ASSISTANT COACH ARMON GATES

Seventh-year Nebraska coach Tim Miles has built a reputation on turning programs into winners.

At Colorado State, he turned a program that won nine games in his first season to three straight postseason appearances, including the school's first NCAA bid in nine years.

At Nebraska, it took Miles two years to guide the program to its first NCAA Tournament appearance in 16 seasons. For his efforts, Miles was named Big Ten Coach of the Year and won the Jim Phelan Award for national coach of the year in 2014. He returned the Huskers to the postseason in 2018, as NU won 22 games, including a school-record 13 conference games.

During his 23-year coaching career, Miles has taken teams to postseason play in the Division I, Division II and NAIA ranks, becoming the only active coach to accomplish that feat. During his tenure at Nebraska, he is the only coach in school history to win at least 11 conference games on two occasions.

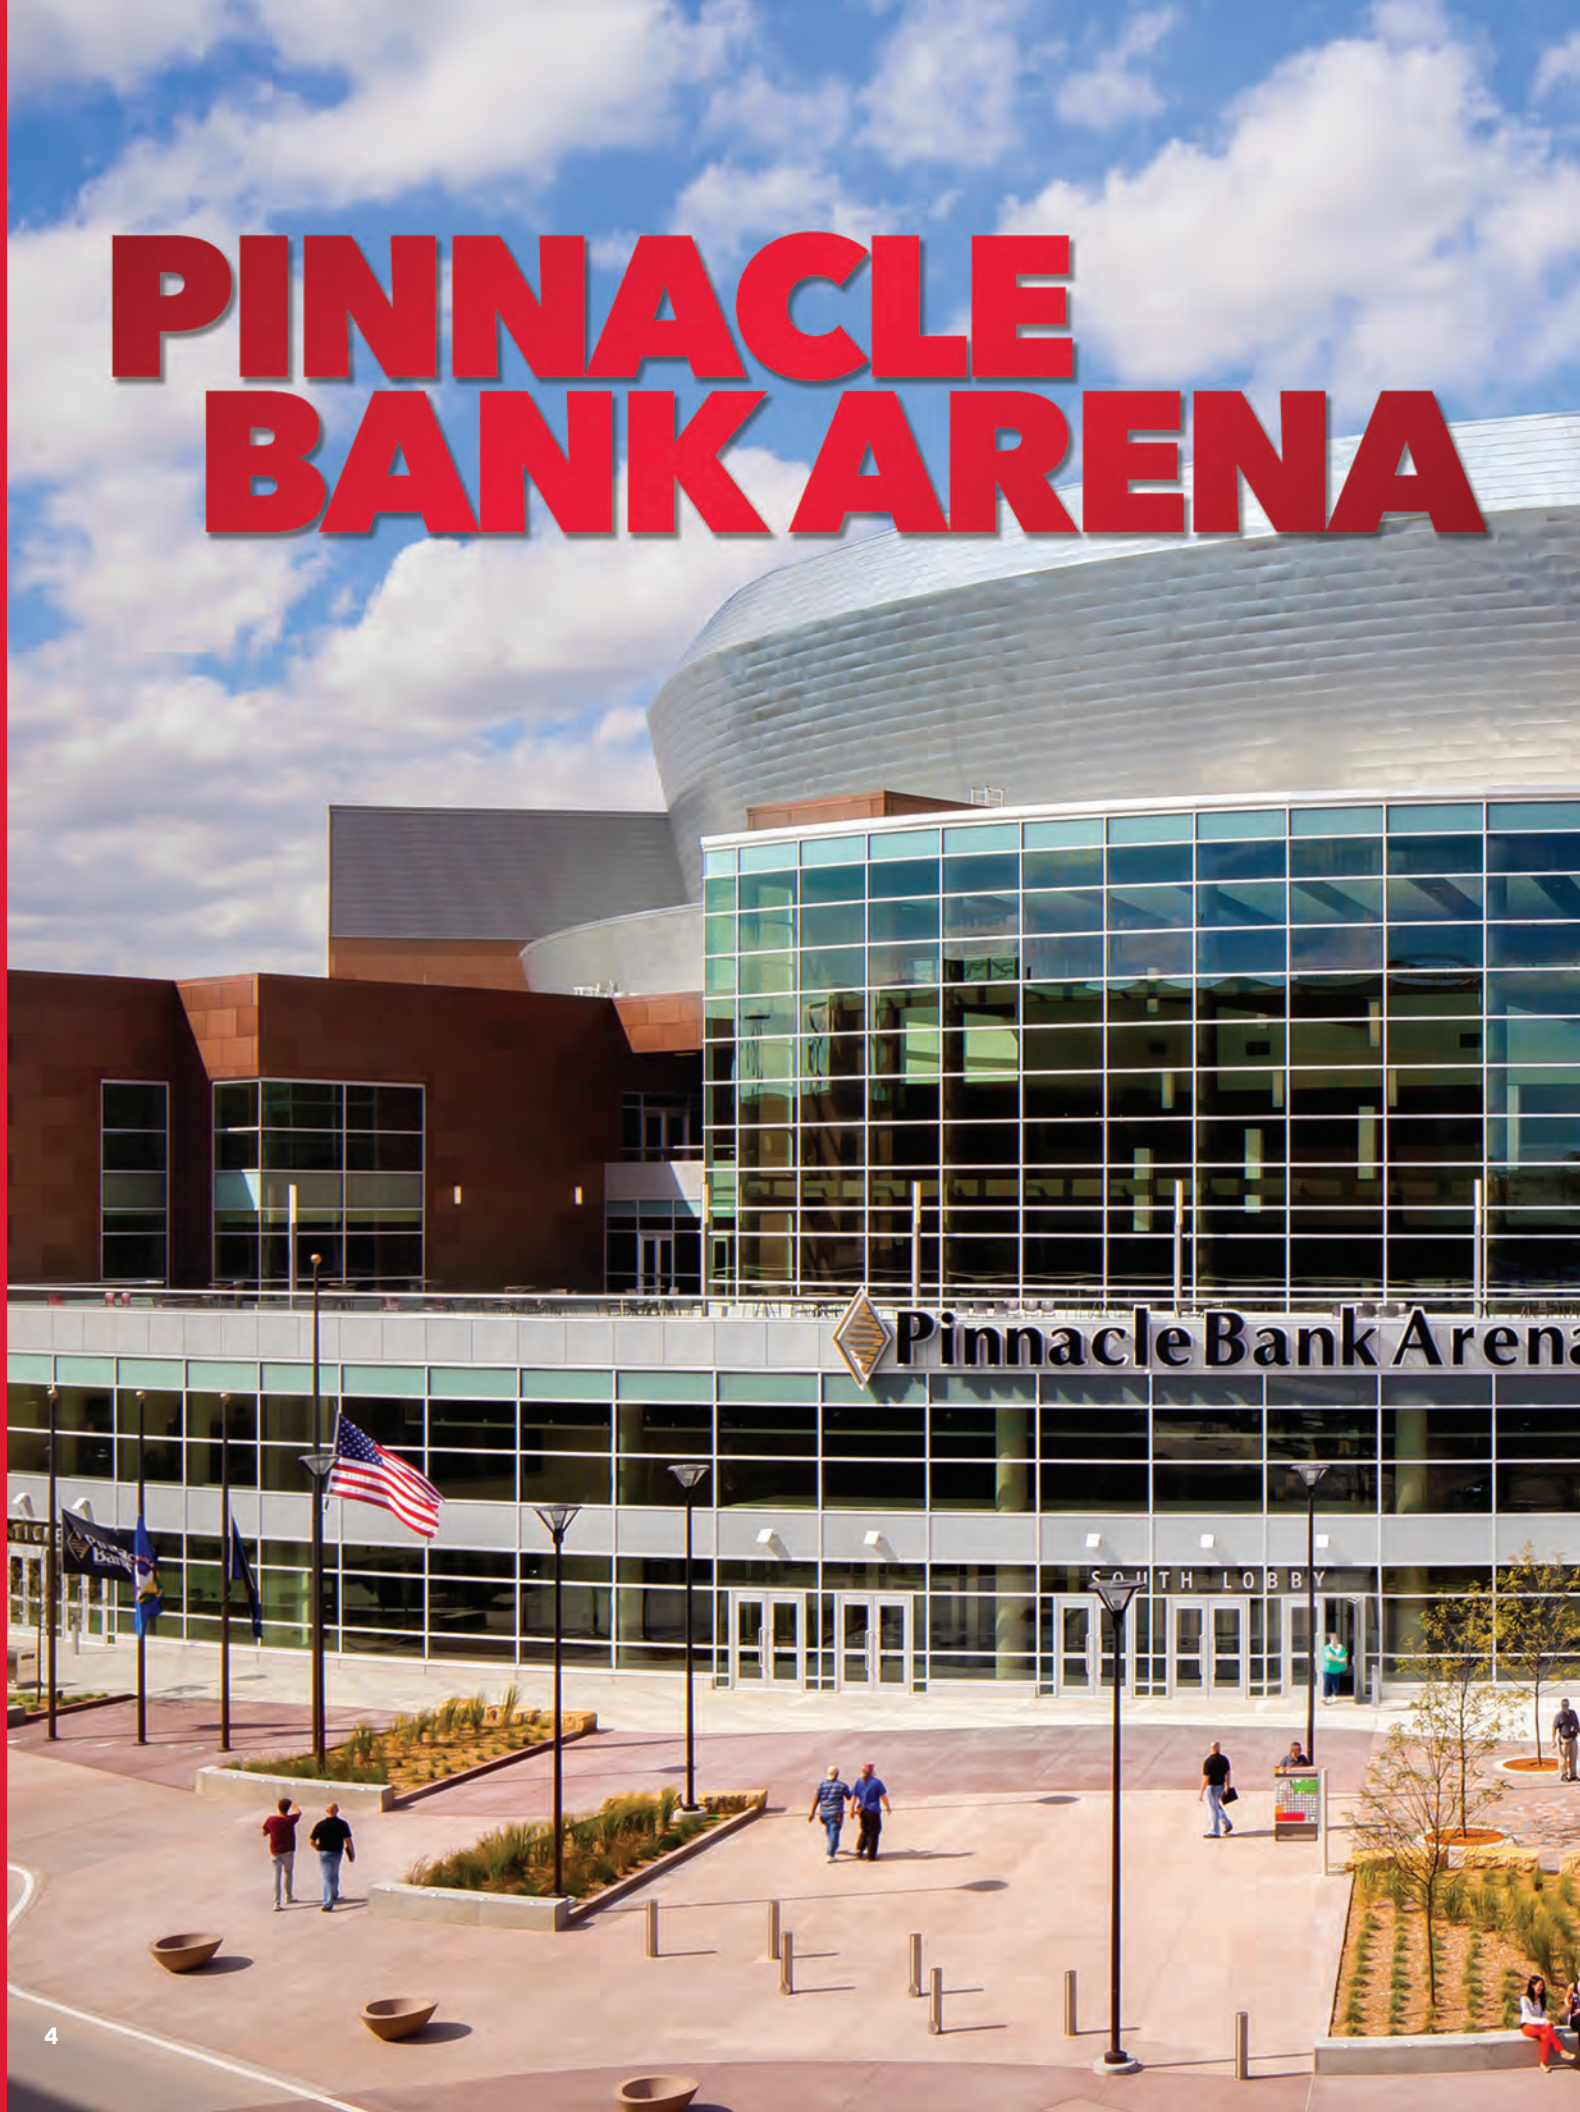

Miles' coaching staff at Nebraska features assistant coaches Armon Gates, Jim Molinari and Michael Lewis. Gates comes to Nebraska after helping Northwestern recruit two top-30 classes in the last five seasons. Lewis, a former point guard at Indiana, is in his third season after helping Butler to three NCAA Tournament appearances in five seasons. Molinari has reached the NCAA Tournament 13 times as a head coach or assistant. As a head coach, he won over 300 games and was a three-time conference coach of the year before joining Miles' staff in 2014.

Not only is Nebraska in the Big Ten, considered one of the best basketball conferences in the country, but the Huskers have benefited from more than $200 million in basketball facility improvements, including the Hendricks Training Complex and Pinnacle Bank Arena.

The Big Ten has been at the forefront of college basketball this decade. Since 2010, the conference has produced six National Players of the Year and a national-best 11 consensus All-Americans. In that span, Big Ten schools have produced 25 First-Round NBA draft picks, including 12 lottery selections. The Big Ten is the only conference with at least one Final Four teams in five of the past seven seasons.

The Big Ten has unmatched fan support in college basketball, as the conference has led the NCAA in attendance for 42 consecutive years. In 2017-18, more than three million fans saw Big Ten games in person, while seven programs ranked in the top 20 nationally in attendance.

PINNACLE BANK ARENA

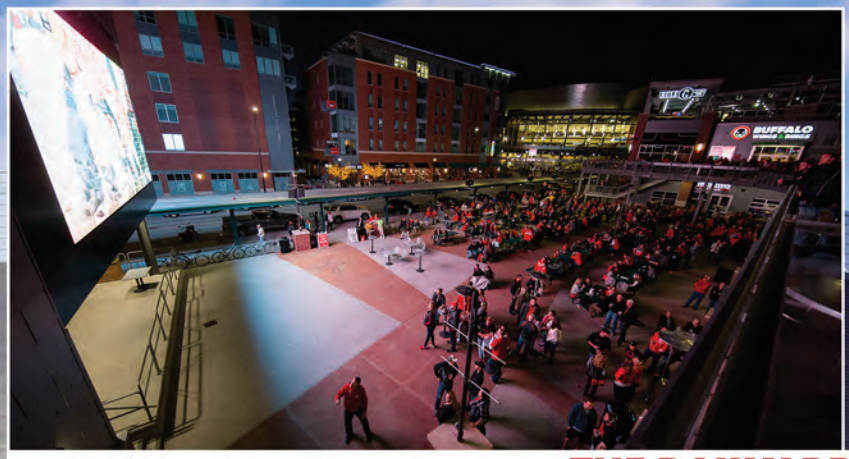

PINNACLE BANK ARENA

The Nebraska men's basketball program entered a new era in 2013-14 with the move into the $179 million Pinnacle Bank Arena.

Located in downtown Lincoln, the 15,000-seat arena is the centerpiece of a bold and dynamic city plan. A landmark venture that shows the cooperative spirit across the community, the arena is the permanent home of Nebraska men's and women's basketball while serving as one of the Midwest's hottest spots for the nation's top touring shows.

The arena, which is just steps away from both Memorial Stadium and Hawks Field and Bowlin Stadium at Haymarket Park, also serves as a hub for an outdoor entertainment district in Lincoln, known as the Railyard.

In addition to the economic impact of thousands of Husker fans at each basketball home game, the Haymarket area has seen the addition of several major hotels, businesses, upscale housing options and many new dining and entertainment options.

GAMEDAY AT THE VAULT

Pinnacle Bank Arena has quickly become one of the more formidable homecourt environments in the Big Ten Conference since it opened in 2013.

The 15,000-seat facility has helped Nebraska rank in the top-15 nationally in attendance in each of the past five seasons, including 11th in 2017-18 with an average of 15,492 fans per game. Last year, the Huskers went 16-1 at Pinnacle Bank Arena, including a perfect 9-0 in Big Ten play.

Nebraska is one of nine programs in Division I basketball to average 15,000 fans per game over the past five seasons.

In 2018-19, season tickets were sold out by the end of September, marking the fourth time in six years that season tickets have been sold out before the start of the season.

HENDRICKS TRAINING COMPLEX

HENDRICKS TRAINING COMPLEX

The home for the Nebraska basketball program, the Hendricks Training Complex, was officially opened on Oct. 13, 2011.

The 80,000-square foot facility located adjacent to the Bob Devaney Sports Center includes practice facilities with a court and a half, expanded team locker rooms and player lounges as well as areas for strength and conditioning, nutrition and athletic medicine.

The two-level facility is named for Tom and Mary Hendricks of Pipe Creek, Texas, and their children, Jennifer and Brandon, for their lead gift in the project.

BUS WHITEHEAD COURT

Named for one of the legendary players in program history, the Bus Whitehead Court features a court and a half for the team to practice, an auxiliary training room as well as a 103-inch plasma screen for teaching during drills.

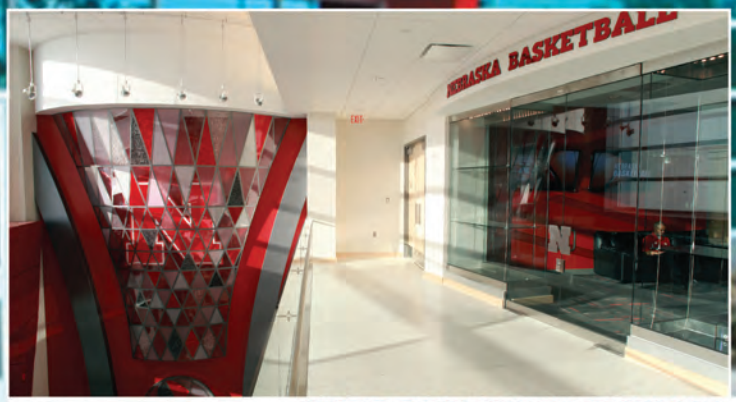

The court is named for Bus Whitehead, a two-time all-conference performer who led the Huskers to consecutive Big Seven titles in 1949 and 1950 and is a member of the Nebraska Basketball Hall of Fame.

HUSKER POWER: A NATIONAL LEADER

Husker Power is a nationally recognized brand and a source of pride for Nebraska Athletics.

NEBRASKA WAS THE FIRST TO:

- Have a paid strength coach
- Lift weights in-season
- Hold a summer conditioning class
- Offer a degree for strength coaching

With 14 staff members, including men's basketball strength coach Tim Wilson, it is one of the most comprehensive strength and conditioning organizations in the country. Husker basketball student-athletes train in the Hendricks Training Complex, which features a 5,000-square foot weight room.

Before returning to college athletes, Wilson spent 11 years in the NBA with the Milwaukee Bucks and has worked with the Chicago White Sox, as well as Oregon, Pittsburgh and UNLV.

NATIONAL EXPOSURE

Nebraska basketball is in the spotlight with the exposure received by the Big Ten Conference schools. The Big Ten partners with FOX, ESPN, CBS and BTN, and is the only conference which has broadcast television agreements with four networks.

The package provides maximum exposure, as Big Ten games are featured on a nightly basis throughout the season. Since Nebraska joined the Big Ten in 2011-12, every conference game has been televised nationally through the conference TV partners.

In 2018-19, Nebraska basketball will be in the national spotlight this season, as every regular-season game will be available nationally on television or streamed by one of the Big Ten's broadcast partners.

All games will be broadcast on the IMG Husker Sports Network with radio affiliates across the state of Nebraska. In addition, games are available for free on Huskers.com, the Huskers app and on the TuneIn Radio app. Select broadcasts are also available on Sirius XM Satellite Radio.

BIG TEN TV PACKAGE

CBS - Minimum of 10 regular-season games per year along with the Big Ten Tournament semifinals and championship game.

ESPN - A total of 38 games annually, as well as the ACC/Big Ten Challenge, which features 14 matchups between the Big Ten and ACC.

FOX - A total of 39-47 games which will air on FOX or FS1 and are also available on the FOXSportsGO app.

BTN - A minimum of 132 games which will air on BTN, while remaining non-conference games will air on BTN+. In addition, BTN has exclusive coverage of the first 10 games of the Big Ten Tournament. Live and archived games are available on the BTN2Go app. The network also creates original programming, including the Emmy-award winning show The Journey, and a nightly highlights show during the season.

STUDENT-ATHLETE EXPERIENCE

Nebraska Athletics is one of the few self-sustaining athletic programs in the country. In 2017-18, nine of Nebraska's 10 ticketed sports where attendance is tracked ranked in the top 25 nationally in average attendance and every sport ranked in the top 35. This incredible interest and support enables Nebraska Athletics to invest in the student-athlete experience, as well as the overall game-day experience.

Nebraska is a leader in providing all the resources and support necessary for student-athletes to become successful in Academics, Athletics and Life. Nebraska will continue to strategically plan for avenues to strengthen the resources to support more than 600 Husker student-athletes across 24 sports.

UNMATCHED SUPPORT

In August of 2014, the NCAA Division I Board of Directors restructured the way member institutions and conferences, including the Big Ten, govern themselves. Nebraska has a great history and tradition of providing unmatched benefits and support to student-athletes. However, this change in governance, and subsequent legislation, paved the way for Nebraska to enhance the benefits and experiences for student-athletes. A few examples of these enhanced benefits are:

- All scholarship student-athletes have their scholarship calculated based on the full cost of attendance.
- Each student-athlete is offered a free Apple MacBook Air laptop computer to enhance their learning opportunities.
- Nebraska has increased resources and support in all academic and performance related areas including but not limited to Academic Services, Life Skills, Athletic Medicine, Athletic Training, Strength and Conditioning, Nebraska Athletic Performance Laboratory, Nutrition and Sports Analytics.
- As part of Nebraska's innovative Post-Eligibility Opportunity (PEO) program, where every student-athlete graduate who has exhausted their athletic eligibility has the opportunity to pursue (with Nebraska support) an internship, participate in a study abroad program or attend graduate school within the University of Nebraska system.

ACADEMIC COUNSELING

Seven academic counselors, three learning specialists and two assistant academic counselors are in place to monitor daily academic progress, receive consistent course feedback, assist with the advising/registration process and monitor eligibility and progress toward graduation.

TUTORIAL SUPPORT

A tremendous resource for all academic abilities, unlimited tutorial support from approximately 75-100 tutors on staff is available from day one up to college graduation in all subject areas. The tutorial program is certified as a model tutoring program by the College Reading and Learning Association.

STUDY HALL

Nebraska's study hall program is housed in the D.J. Sokol Enrichment Center within the Student Life Complex. Student-athletes attend a supervised, flex-time study hall that features day, evening and weekend hours. Student-athletes are required to complete a specific number of study hours each week as determined by their academic counselor and/or coach. Additional performance-based or tutor-based study hall also may be determined by the academic counselor.

MENTORING

Academic support staff serve as mentors to all incoming student-athletes and select returning student-athletes. The student-athletes meet with their mentor weekly to develop time management skills, gather and report academic progress information and discuss academic success strategies.

EDUCATIONAL ASSESSMENTS

Assessments are administered upon the request of the student-athlete, academic counselor, or coach. Learning specialists are available to administer and score informal assessments, which include a reading comprehension and a writing assessment. When more in-depth assessments are necessary, referrals are made to a consulting psychologist who conducts the assessments. If it is determined a student-athlete has a learning disability or another medical condition that impedes the student from reaching their academic potential, appropriate accommodations are implemented by the Office of Services for Students with Disabilities.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ORIENTATION

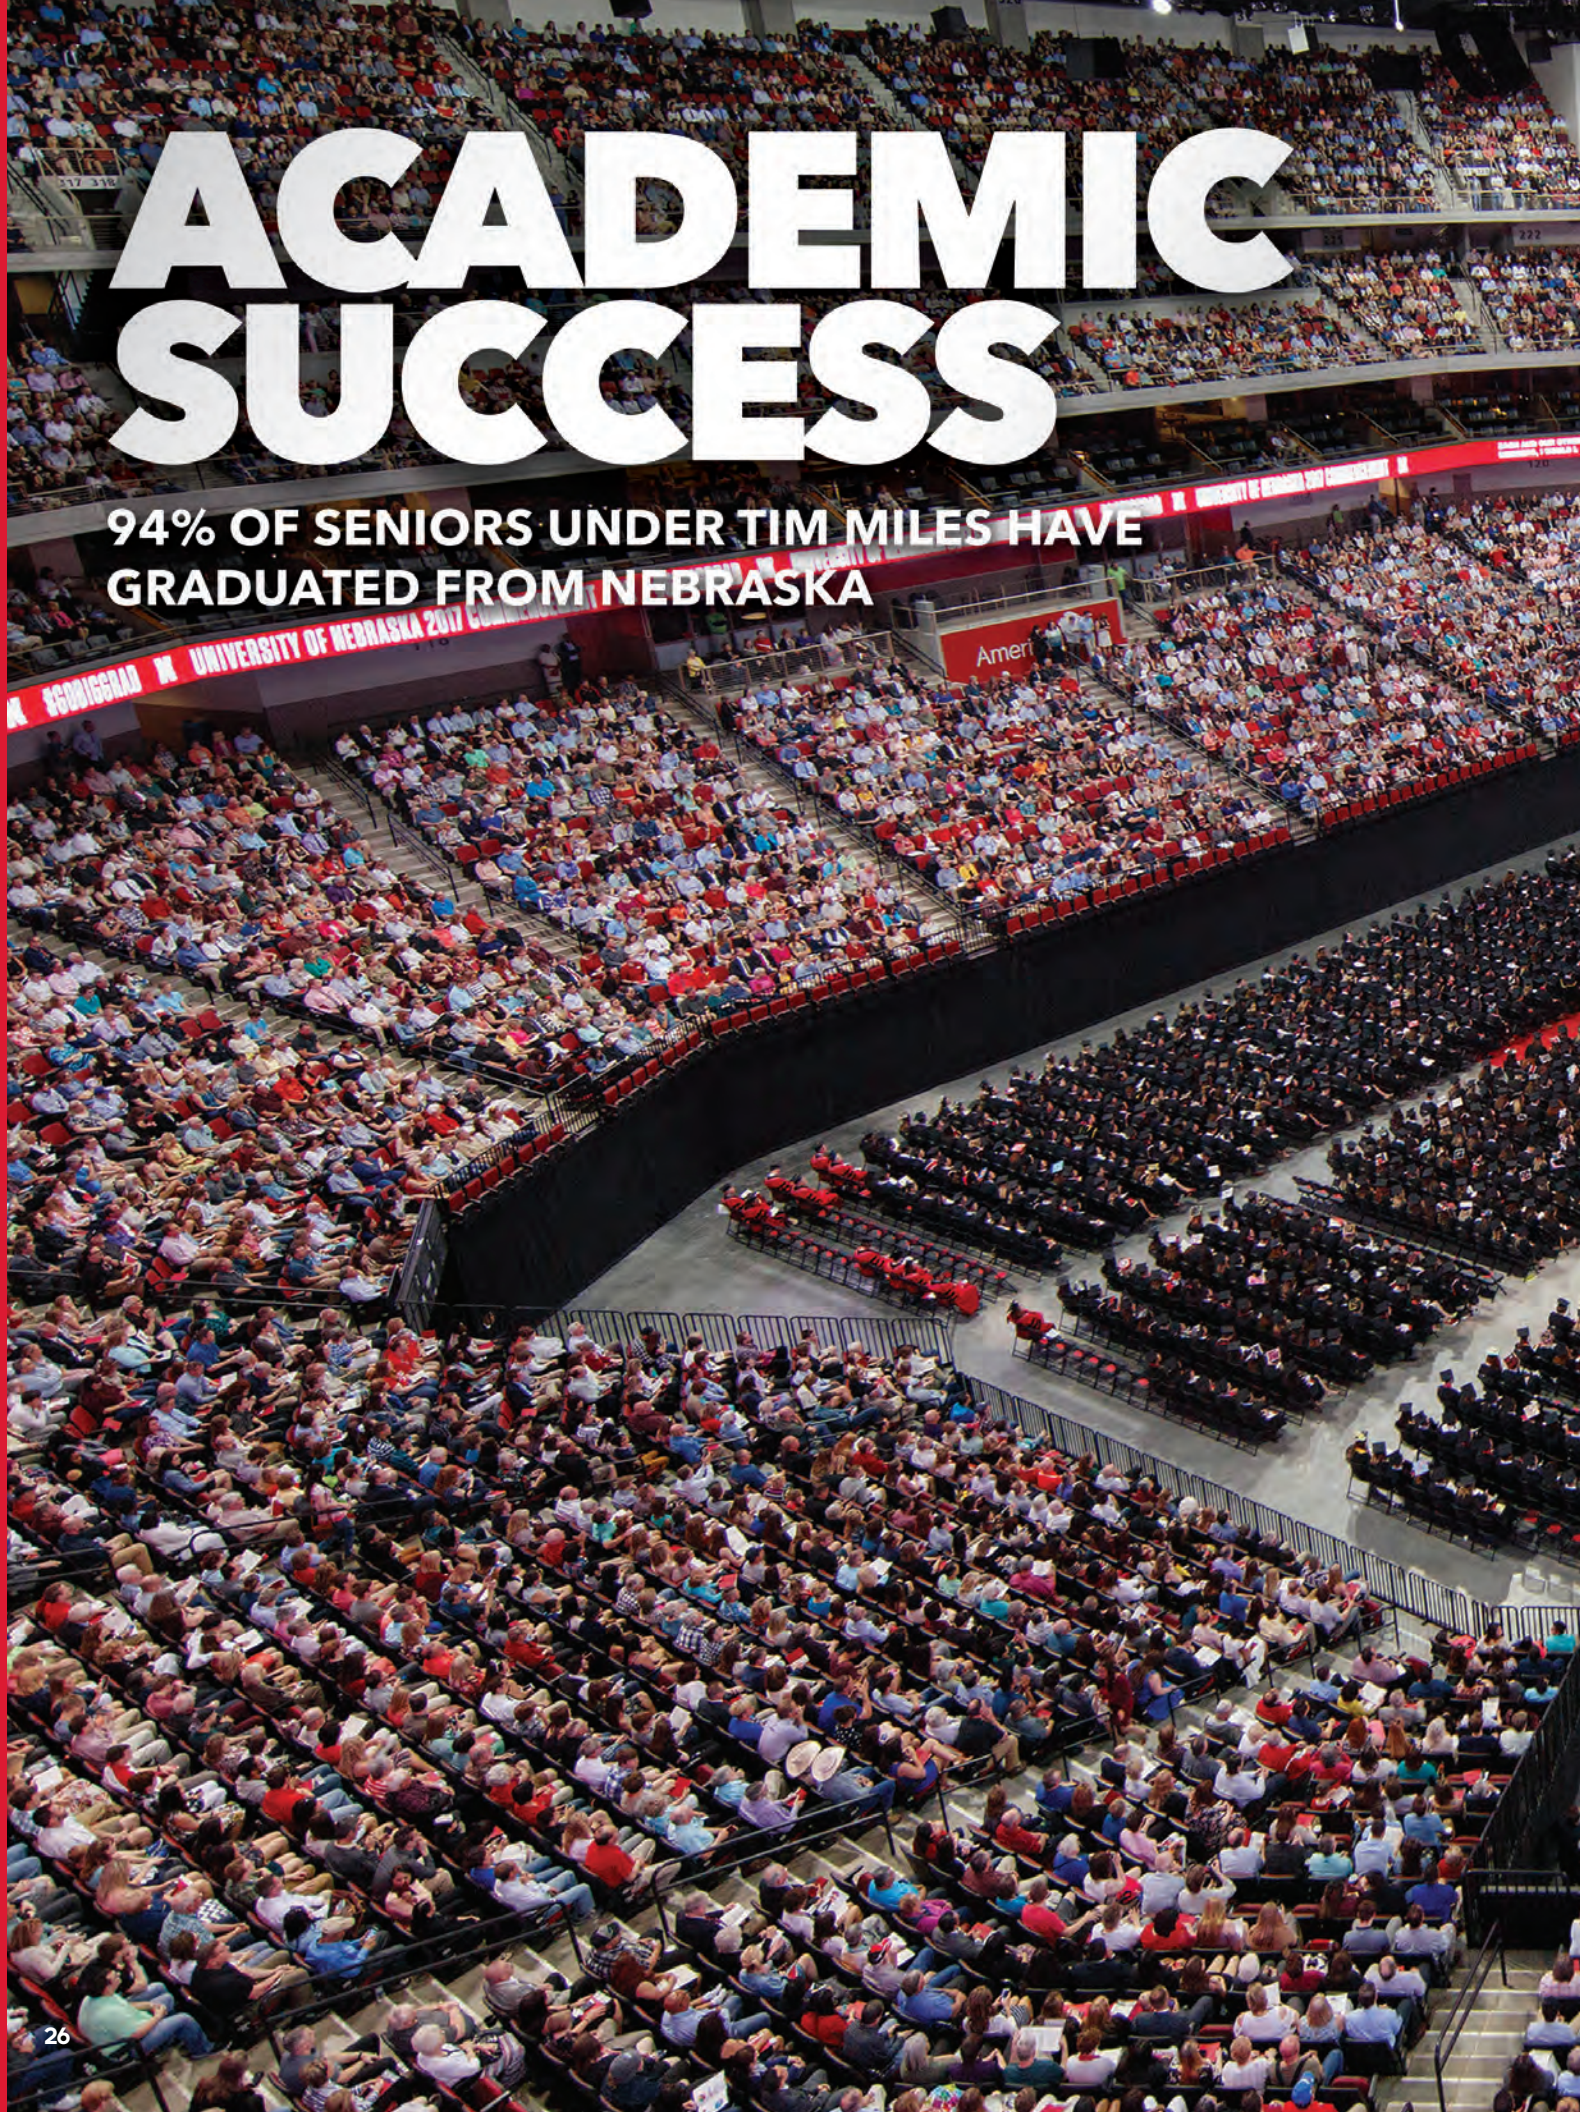

Each new student-athlete attends an orientation at the beginning of their academic career. Student-athletes are introduced to staff, faculty, administrators, and a variety of resources that help facilitate the transition into college while enhancing awareness of support services in the Athletic Department and across campus.

PERSONAL COUNSELING

Student-athletes will find a supportive and caring environment at Nebraska. Transitional issues, stress management, time management, academic focus and problem resolution are all addressed in a proactive manner throughout the year. If necessary, counseling referrals are also made to designated practitioners.

COMPUTER RESOURCES

The Herman Student Life Complex has two computer labs available for student-athletes. The Scott Technology Center features two tech tables for use on group computer projects and group study sessions. New laptops are provided to all student-athletes for use during their academic career at Nebraska.

Buddies

The Life Skills staff provides proactive education to all incoming and returning student-athletes designed to promote responsible decision-making, enhance one's personal brand and prepare student-athletes for life after sports. Interactive presentations are delivered during summer bridge sessions, orientations and year-by-year tiered development workshops.

INDIVIDUAL MEETINGS

Every Nebraska student-athlete is assigned a Life Skills staff member who will assist with personal and career development. The meetings help each student-athlete identify a career focus and implement a plan to increase career marketability.

CAREER COMMITMENT & NETWORKING

Nebraska Life Skills organizes an annual Student-Athlete Career Fair Networking Night and other career events aimed at connecting Huskers with companies desiring competitive, hard-working, accountable candidates. Athlete Network and UNL's Handshake Link provide opportunities to explore career opportunities across the country.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Nebraska student-athletes readily accept the role-model challenge, collectively giving more than 8,000 hours annually to impact thousands across the state of Nebraska. Outreach events include but are not limited to hospital visits, mentoring, school assemblies, statewide rallies, Make-A-Wish, School is Cool and Husker Heroes. In August of 2018, Thomas Allen and the Huskers held a back-to-school drive for kids at Everett Elementary School (left).

LEADERSHIP

Nebraska Life Skills provides student-athletes with countless opportunities to enhance leadership skills while distinguishing themselves from the competition. Student-athletes can be members of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Inner Circle or INVOLVED. UNL offers more than 600 recognized student organizations allowing athletes to collaborate with other campus leaders for common goals. Nebraska Life Skills funds and coordinates an annual one-week service abroad trip that allows 20 student-athletes to work together toward a common goal while enriching cultural competencies.

RECOGNITION

In 2017-18, two Husker Basketball student-athletes were named to the Tom Osborne Citizenship team for completing a minimum of six service projects in the calendar year. A host of other recognition opportunities at the institutional, Big Ten and NCAA levels that all reflect the high ideals, character and servant leadership nurtured through community involvement also are available.

POST-ELIGIBILITY OPPORTUNITIES

Since 2015, every student-athlete who letters and graduates will have a three-year window to benefit from one of three post-eligibility opportunities each valued at $7,500. Upon completion of required seminars, graduates can either study abroad, complete an internship or begin graduate school within the University of Nebraska-Lincoln or the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

The Life Skills program also is responsible for all Diversity and Inclusion initiatives for Husker Athletics. Since 2016, the Diversity and Inclusion Summit has reached all student-athletes and staff with programming emphasizing respect, acceptance and unity. Numerous other special events are coordinated in collaboration with campus departments highlighting the diversity within Husker Nation.

ATHLETIC MEDICINE

Nebraska features one of the most well-trained and highly skilled athletic medicine staffs in the country. Under the guidance of Director of Athletic Medicine Dr. Lonnie Albers, Head Athletic Trainer and Physical Therapist Jerry Weber and Men's Basketball Head Athletic Trainer R.J. Pietig, the 2018-19 Nebraska athletic medicine staff consists of five physicians, 13 full-time athletic trainers, eight graduate assistant athletic trainers, three full-time in-house athletic psychologists and sports psychiatry consultants who work directly with student-athletes.

Nebraska's medical facilities have long been among the nation's best, and NU's athletic medicine center within the Tom and Nancy Osborne Athletic Complex will keep the Huskers on the front line of technology for decades to come. In addition to Nebraska's North Stadium facility, Haymarket Park, the Bob Devaney Sports Center, Pinnacle Bank Arena and the Nebraska Soccer and Tennis Complex all feature athletic medicine areas. The Devaney Center's Athletic Medicine facility underwent an extensive expansion as part of the Hendricks Training Complex addition in 2011.

Nebraska uses advanced equipment, including two anti-gravity treadmills (pictured, top) to help athletes recondition after injuries. Nebraska's Athletic Medicine Center also features a hydrotherapy area that includes a three-level laned pool, as well as hot and cold plunge tanks (pictured, bottom). The Hydroworx 1000 Treadmill Pool is equipped with two cameras underwater for evaluation and assessment.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

The University of Nebraska was chartered by the Nebraska Legislature in 1869 as the state's public university and land-grant institution. Founded in Lincoln, the University of Nebraska was expanded in 1968 into a state educational system now comprising four campuses under the guidance of a Board of Regents and a central administration. Nebraska, which joined the Big Ten Conference in 2011, is a member of the Big Ten Academic Alliance, a consortium of Big Ten universities and the University of Chicago, which has generated unique opportunities for students and faculty by sharing expertise, leveraging resources and collaborating on programs.

BIG TEN ACADEMIC ALLIANCE

As a member of the Big Ten, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) is a member of the Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA), formerly the Committee on Institutional Cooperation, which is the academic consortium of the universities in the Big Ten Conference. The consortium was renamed on June 29, 2016. The BTAA includes all 14 Big Ten Institutions and the University of Chicago. The Big Ten Academic Alliances and the institutions together have annual research expenditures topping $10.2 billion — more than the Ivy League and the University of California System combined — and they educate a total of nearly 600,000 students with approximately 50,000 full-time faculty members.

NEBRASKA AND ADIDAS

Nebraska student-athletes are fitted with the finest adidas footwear, uniforms, apparel and accessories as part of the apparel manufacturer's lucrative sponsorship deal with the Nebraska Athletic Department.

From head to toe, Husker athletes receive the newest gear to not only look sharp, but to also have the latest technology at their disposal.

"With Nebraska, we're not only focused on products for athletes – we're looking at the entire world of sport," Mark King, president of adidas North America. "Through innovation and creativity, we're finding new ways to move athlete performance forward and shape the future of sport. We're turning the traditional college partnership on its head and reimagining how a sportswear brand and a college can work together."

Devaney Center Equipment Manager Pat Norris works closely with an on-campus adidas representative to make sure Husker basketball players have everything they need to represent the University in a proper manner. From warmups to workout gear and shoes to winter coats, Norris orders the best fitting, most appropriate gear for the Huskers every season, so they can look their best on and off the court.

Nebraska will debut new basketball uniforms this fall and will have additional alternative jerseys thst will debut throughout the season. The photos on the right are some of the recent jerseys over the previous two years.

Nebraska's relationship with adidas began in 1995, and in August of 2017, Nebraska and adidas extended their partnership until 2028.

Glynn Watson Jr. begins his fourth season as Nebraska's lead guard and has a career 2.1-to-1 assist-to-turnover ratio.

When Tim Miles talks about the 2018-19 Huskers basketball team, he talks about a group that is determined to finish what it had started.

Coming off a season where the Huskers won 22 games and made their first postseason appearance in four years, the focus has been to build on that foundation in the offseason, and Miles, who begins his seventh season at Nebraska, has been impressed with the Huskers' work ethic since last year's NIT loss to Mississippi State.

"These guys just work. There is not a lot of variable in them, and they have great habits that way," Miles said. "They show up every day, work their tails off and compete really hard."

Miles credits that attitude to a solid corps of experienced returnees which features Glynn Watson Jr., James Palmer Jr., Isaac Copeland Jr. and Isaiah Roby. Those four players, the Huskers' top four scorers, are all back, as the Huskers bring back three starters and nine letterwinners who comprised nearly 75 percent of their scoring and more than 60 percent of their rebounding from last year.

Isaac Copeland averaged a career-high 12.9 ppg, and had 23 double-figure efforts in 2017-18.

The backcourt is led by Watson, who begins his fourth year as the Huskers' lead guard. The 6-foot senior averaged 10.5 points per game, while leading the Huskers in both assists (3.2 apg) and steals (1.4 apg). Watson has started 77 career games at Nebraska and has a chance to finish in the top-10 in scoring, assists and steals before his career is over.

On the wing, Nebraska returns one of the Big Ten's top players in Palmer, as the 6-foot-6 senior averaged 17.2 points per game en route to first-team All-Big Ten honors. Palmer reached double figures 31 times, and got to the foul line a conference-high 221 times. In Big Ten play, Palmer is the leading returning scorer at 18.8 ppg, the highest returning scoring average in six years.

Roby and Copeland anchor a multi-dimensional frontcourt that helped NU rank among the Big Ten leaders in field goal defense in conference play. While Copeland started all 33 games, Roby moved into the starting lineup in mid-January and sparked the Huskers to a 10-2 mark to close Big Ten play. Copeland was second on the team in scoring (12.9 ppg), rebounding (5.0 rpg) and blocked shots (1.0) while shooting 47 percent from the field, including 37 percent from 3-point range.

Roby raised his scoring average from 3.1 ppg to 8.7 ppg, while topping the Huskers in rebounds (6.3 rpg) and blocked shots (2.0 bpg). The 6-foot-8 forward was playing some of his best basketball down the stretch, closing the year with eight straight double-figure efforts, including three of his four double-doubles.

For the Huskers to reach the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2014, honing that mindset is important as the Huskers will be tested throughout the year with a difficult schedule.

"I think having that mindset about having something to prove is the most crucial thing," Miles said. "With the amount of returning talent in the conference, the margin of error is very thin. We need to have that edge and to have that consistent mentality. If we can do that and stay healthy, I think we have enough talent to have a chance to be really good."

Backcourt

In the backcourt, the Huskers have the luxury of returning starting point guard Glynn Watson Jr., along with Thomas Allen, who played significant minutes as a freshman. NU also returns a pair of walk-ons in Johnny Trueblood and Justin Costello, while freshman Amir Harris will have an opportunity to earn playing time early in his career. He could help replace Evan Taylor and Anton Gill, who split time in the backcourt.

For the fourth straight season, the ball will be in the capable hands of Watson, as the senior will be the fulcrum of the Huskers attack. The 6-footer averaged 10.5 points and paced the Huskers in both assists (3.2 apg) and steals (1.4 spg). He ranked in the top-10 of the Big Ten in steals (sixth) and assist-to-turnover ratio (2.2, seventh) while improving his play on the defense end.

Watson enters his senior year with more than 1,000 career points and has a chance to finish in the top-10 in school charts in both assists and steals. He has showed the ability to carry the Husker attack, as he totaled four 20-point games last season, including a season-best 29-point outburst in a win over No. 14 Minnesota. Watson looks to regain the shooting form of his sophomore year when he shot 42 percent from the field, including 40 percent from 3-point range.

"Glynn's heart is in the right place, and he really wants team success over any individual accolades," Miles said. "He has accomplished a lot in his three years, but really wants to get us to the NCAA and go places where this program has never gone before.

"He came to me after the season disappointed because his scoring numbers were down compared to his sophomore year," Miles said. "I showed him how his assists were up, his turnovers were down, how much better he played defensively and his steals were at a similar rate to the year before. I know he has put in the effort in the gym to work on his shooting and give himself a chance for a special senior year."

Allen played in 32 games as a freshman, averaging 3.2 points per game in just under 10 minutes per game. He had two double-figure efforts last season, including a 13-point performance off the bench against Kansas. Allen shot 35 percent from 3-point range, and may be the Huskers' top 3-point threat. A former top-100 recruit, he started at Brewster Academy and averaged 18 points per game and shot 48 percent from 3-point range as a senior. Allen has added strength and can play at either guard spot for the Big Red.

"Thomas had some very bright moments for us last year, especially against some of our best opponents, and that showed us that he has the talent and the ability," Miles said. "For him, the key is to be able to play either guard spot for us and also develop that killer instinct and bringing that attitude to the gym every day. As he develops that, he has a chance to be a special player for us."

One freshman who has potential to get into the mix is Amir Harris. The 6-foot-6, 205-pounder was a stat stuffer at St. James School in Maryland, averaging 11.5 points, 6.3 rebounds, 6.4 assists, 1.8 steals and 1.4 blocks per game as a senior. A three-time all-county selection, Harris helped St. James go 19-11 and win the Mid-Atlantic Conference in 2018. A late signee, Harris is just beginning to scratch the surface of his skill set, and his combination of size and athleticism will give the Husker coaches a number of options.

"Amir is a very good athlete, and has worked hard on his guard skills throughout the offseason," Miles said. "He can get on the floor because of his sheer athleticism, rebounding and ability to run the floor. He is a high-level athlete, an excellent student, and someone who has a chance to develop in our program throughout his career."

Trueblood gives the Huskers a veteran presence and valuable depth. After returning to the team after a one-year absence, he saw action in seven games last year. A former all-state selection at Elkhorn South, Truebood has played in 17 career games at Nebraska, totaling nine points and five assists in 39 minutes. He also handles the Husker scout team in practice, earning the respect of his teammates for his diligence.

Costello will look to earn his first playing time this season, as he redshirted last season. The 6-foot-1, 200-pound guard added nearly 20 pounds of muscle since arriving on campus, and was chosen by his teammates as the lifter of the year. One of the best shooters on the squad, Costello was a first-team all-state selection as a senior, averaging 18.6 points and 3.5 assists per game at Elkhorn South. He teamed with Trueblood to win the 2015 Class B state title at Pinnacle Bank Arena, and the pair will provide backcourt depth for the 2018-19 Huskers.

Wings

On the wing, the Huskers feature one of the Big Ten's top performers in Palmer, along with an intriguing group of youngsters, including Nana Akenten, Thorir Thorbjarnarson and Karrington Davis. Newcomer Dachon Burke will sit out this year after transferring from Robert Morris and be eligible for the 2019-20 season.

Palmer comes into the season as one of the top returning players in the country. The All-America candidate flirted with the NBA Draft before returning for his senior season. Last year, Palmer averaged 17.2 points, 4.4 rebounds and 3.0 assists per game, ranking in the top five in scoring and among the team leaders in both rebounds and assists. The 6-foot-6 wing is the top returning scorer in Big Ten play at 18.8 points per game, as his scoring average is the highest by a returning conference player since the 2012-13 campaign. Palmer topped the Huskers in double-figures (31) and 20-point games (eight), highlighted by a 34-point performance at Ohio State. He was at his best down the stretch, averaging 20.8 ppg on 48 percent shooting over the Huskers' final 12 conference games.

"What has impressed me the most about James is his everyday mentality," Miles said. "His mindset has been terrific on bringing it every day. He is a guy who is in the gym two to three times a day. He knows he has to shoot better from 3-point range, and I am confident he will because of the talent and work ethic."

Akenten saw limited duty as a freshman, tallying just 21 minutes in seven contests, but has the ability and athleticism to find his way into the rotation this season. A former top-150 recruit, he was a first-team all-state performer at Bolingbrook High School, averaging 14.7 points and 5.7 points per game. Akenten is one of the team's best shooters, and has worked hard to round out his game in the offseason.

"Nana is a terrific athlete on the wing," Miles said. "Being behind guys like Evan (Taylor) and Anton (Gill) limited his opportunities for playing time last year, but going against them every day in practice gave Nana a chance to make improvements and adjust to the college game. This is a year where he has a great opportunity to get on the court, and the key for him is bringing that consistency every day."

Thorbjarnarson is another intriguing prospect who is looking for a more significant role this season. As a freshman, he appeared in nine games as he served as a backup at both the guard and wing spots. He spent part of the summer at the U-20 European Championships, averaging 9.0 points, 4.0 rebounds and 3.7 assists per game, ranking first on the team in scoring and second in assists. Thorbjarnarson has added 15 pounds since arriving on campus, and that strength, along with a high basketball IQ, gives him an opportunity to crack the rotation.

"Thorir is bigger than he looks and possesses good guard skills," Miles said. "I think the experience he gained in the offseason with his national team was valuable and will help him this year. As he becomes a more consistent shooter, that will give him an opportunity to see more playing time."

Davis is the wildcard at the position, but he will most likely redshirt after suffering an achilles tendon injury in early October. Prior to the injury, he had shown glimpses of helping the Huskers after missing most of his senior year with a hip injury. At 6-foot-6, 215-pounds, he has the size and physicality to be a factor on the wing. Davis has been a part of several successful programs during his high school career. Last year, he played at Montverde Academy, as the school went 35-0 and they were crowned national champions. Prior to that, Davis was a first-team all-state performer at Chaminade Prep, as he averaged 19 points and six rebounds per game during his junior year and helped the school win a state title as a sophomore.

"Karrington has been a part of several successful programs, and he knows how to play with talented teammates and what it takes to win," Miles said. "He was a little under the radar as a senior because of an injury, but he is a strong, physical player with a very good skill set. He had an opportunity to help us, but the injury will force him to miss the entire season."

One player who will help the Huskers in practice this year is junior Dachon Burke, who transferred from Robert Morris. Burke, who will have two years of eligibility remaining beginning next season, earned second-team All-Northeast Conference honors by averaging 17.6 points, 5.8 rebounds, 2.5 assists and 2.1 steals per game. Burke ranked in the top five in the conference in both scoring and steals, and was a four-time conference player of the week. Burke tallied 30 double-figure efforts, including 11 20-point games as a sophomore. His experience will be vital next year when the Huskers replace Palmer and Watson.

"Dachon is quick to the ball and has excellent instincts," Miles said. "If you look at the volume of assists and rebounds, he's one of the best in the country in steals. That says a lot about his quickness, athleticism and feel for the game. If Dachon can put his redshirt year into effect like guys like Terran Petteway and James Palmer Jr., he will be a go-to player for us in the future."

Frontcourt

For most of the second half of last year, the Huskers relied on a smaller frontcourt with Isaac Copeland Jr. and Isaiah Roby manning the forward spots after Roby replaced Jordy Tshimanga in the lineup. The return of both Copeland and Roby gives Miles one of the best frontcourts in the conference. NU also welcomes back senior Tanner Borchardt while newcomers Dedoch Chan and Brady Heiman look to earn playing time early in their Husker careers.

At this time last year, the biggest question was if Isaac Copeland would be able to be fully healthy after back surgery the previous season. Copeland more than answered those questions, starting all 33 games in his first season as a Husker and setting career highs in scoring (12.9 ppg), rebounding (6.1 rpg) and blocked shots (1.0 bpg). The 6-foot-9 forward also shot 37 percent from 3-point range, including 43 percent in Big Ten play. In all, he reached double figures 23 times, including five 20-point performances, and closed Big Ten play by averaging 15.8 ppg on 58 percent shooting over the Huskers' final nine conference contests to earn honorable-mention All-Big Ten honors. With a full offseason to work on his strength and flexibility, Copeland enters his final collegiate season in the best shape of his career.

"Isaac is very athletic and possesses a terrific skill set," Miles said. "For him, the emphasis is working on his isolation game and taking advantage of his skills to hone and diversify his game, making him an even more productive player."

Roby's emergence during the second half of last season diversified the Husker attack and propelled NU to a 10-2 finish in Big Ten play. The 6-foot-8 forward averaged 8.7 points, while leading the team in rebounding (6.3 rpg), field goal percentage (.565) and blocked shots (2.0 bpg). Roby reached double figures 16 times after accomplishing it once as a freshman, while his 63 blocked shots were the most by a Husker in 17 years. Roby joined Big Ten Player of the Year

Isaiah Roby averaged 13.0 ppg on 62 percent shooting, 8.8 rebounds and 2.6 blocks per game in Nebraska's final eight games last year. Roby is the only returning Big Ten Player with 50 assists and 50 blocked shots last season.

SEASON OUTLOOK

Keita Bates-Diop as the only two conference players with more than 50 blocks and assists in 2017-18. Roby became more of a focal point down the stretch, as he averaged 13.0 points, 8.8 rebounds and 2.6 rebounds per game over NU's last eight contests. He closed the year with eight straight double-figure efforts, including three double-doubles.

"Isaiah is a unique player in college basketball as he was one of only a few players in college basketball with 50 blocked shots and 50 assists last season," Miles said. "When you look at his length, skill level and athleticism, he can be an NBA prospect. The biggest keys for Isaiah is gaining more confidence in his game and getting stronger, and as he does that, the sky is the limit."

Borchardt provides size and physicality in the post, as the 6-foot-8, 250-pound senior is back for his fourth season. Borchardt, who was recruited by several Division I programs in football coming out of high school, played in 20 games last season, averaging 0.9 points and 1.8 rebounds per game. He lost nearly 35 pounds after walking on to the Husker program, and his effort was rewarded when he earned a scholarship in December of 2017. Borchardt's best game came against Stetson when he tallied eight points, 10 rebounds and two blocked shots in 14 second-half minutes.

"Tanner is our most physical player and has a real feel for the game," Miles said. "He earned a scholarship last year, and has done a good job of helping us. As he continues to improve defensively in some areas, he has a chance to get more extended time on the floor."

Chan was a late addition to the roster, as he signed with the Huskers in August to aid NU's frontcourt depth. Chan spent his freshman season at Mississippi Gulf Coast CC, averaging 16.8 points and 8.3 rebounds per game. A first-team NJCAA All-Region 23 selection, he totaled eight double-doubles as a freshman, highlighted by a 33-point, 17-rebound performance against Meridian CC. Chan, who shot better than 30 percent from 3-point range, showed his offensive potential midway through his freshman year with seven straight 20-point efforts. At 6-foot-8, 215 pounds, Chan possesses good athleticism and will add strength to adjust to the Division I ranks.

"We needed to add more size in the frontcourt after Jordy left the team in late July, and we were lucky to add Dedoch to our roster," Miles said. "He was a very productive player in the junior college ranks and continued to improve throughout his freshman year. With some time to develop in our program, I believe Dedoch's best days are in front of him."

At 6-foot-11, Heiman is the tallest player on the 2018-19 Husker roster, and comes to NU after a standout career at Platteview High School. He was active in the frontcourt, averaging 17.3 points, 10.1 rebounds and 4.4 blocks per game as a senior to garner first-team all-state honors from both major papers in the state. Heiman has good length and athleticism for his size, as well as range out to the 3-point line. He comes into the start of practice at 215 pounds after adding 15 pounds since the start of the summer, and adding additional weight and strength will only help his development.

"Brady is a very agile guy for someone who is 6-11," Miles said. "He has a good skill set, as he can hit 3-pointers, rebound and block shots. He has a great attitude and will do anything to help us win. His playing time will be dependent on adding strength to be able to work in the post at this level."

Schedule

The 2018-19 schedule will challenge the Huskers, as they will play seven Division I postseason teams in non-conference action as well as 20 Big Ten games for the first time.

NU's home slate includes matchups against postseason qualifiers Southeastern Louisiana, Seton Hall, Creighton and Cal State Fullerton along with a trip to Sweet 16 qualifier Clemson in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge.

The trip to Clemson is one of three trips the Huskers will take during non-conference play. NU will head to Kansas City in November for the Hall of Fame Classic, where the Huskers will face Missouri State in the opening round and either Texas Tech or USC the following night. On December 16, Nebraska will trek to Sioux Falls, S.D. for a matchup with Oklahoma State.

Once again, the Huskers will play two Big Ten games in December, hosting Illinois on Dec. 2 and traveling to Minnesota on Dec. 5.

The Huskers open 2019 on the road, traveling to Maryland (Jan. 2) and Iowa (Jan. 6) before returning home to host Penn State on Jan. 10. The rest of the January slate features home matchups against defending Big Ten regular-season champion Michigan State (Jan. 17), Ohio State (Jan. 26) and Wisconsin (Jan. 29) along with road trips to both Indiana (Jan. 14) and Rutgers (Jan. 21).

The second half of the Big Ten schedule opens with a rematch at Illinois on Feb. 2 before returning home for three of the next four contests, including games with Maryland (Feb. 6), Minnesota (Feb. 13) and Northwestern (Feb. 16). The only road game in that run is a matchup at Purdue on Feb. 9, the first of two matchups with the Boilermakers in a 15-day span.

The homestretch features four straight games against postseason qualifiers, including road trips to NIT champion Penn State (Feb. 19), NCAA runner-up Michigan (Feb. 28) and a rematch with Michigan State (March 5) along with hosting Purdue on Feb. 23. NU's game with Iowa on March 10 is on the final day of the regular season before the Big Ten Tournament returns to the United Center in Chicago from March 13-17.

HUSKER NOTEBOOK

- The Huskers enter the 2018-19 season welcoming back three starters and nine letterwinners from a team that went 22-11 and finished tied for fourth in the Big Ten with a 13-5 mark. NU also returns junior forward Isaiah Roby, who started 13 of NU's final 14 games and led NU in both rebounding (6.3 rpg) and blocked shots (2.0 bpg).

- Nebraska returns 73.4 percent of its scoring, 61.4 percent of its rebounding, 71.5 percent of its assists and 67.2 percent of its blocked shots from last year. Last year, NU averaged 72.3 points per game, its highest average since the 1996-97 season (72.9 ppg).

Palmer finished the 2017-18 campaign fifth in the Big Ten in scoring at 17.2 points per game while posting a team-high eight 20-point games. He reached double figures in 31 of 33 contests, while also averaging 4.4 rebounds and 3.0 assists per game.

Palmer was at his best in Nebraska's six games against ranked opponents as a junior, averaging 19.3 points per game on 48 percent shooting, including 43 percent from 3-point range. Palmer also averaged 4.3 rebounds, 2.3 assists and 1.0 steal per game in those six contests.

Palmer showed the ability to raise his play late in games. Not only did he tie a school record with a 24-point second half in a win over Maryland, but also shot considerably better in the final five minutes of games from both the field and from the foul line. Palmer shot nearly 83 percent from the foul line in the final five minutes of games last season.

Palmer has shown the ability to get to the foul line, as he led the Big Ten with 221 attempts in 2017-18, well ahead of Maryland's Anthony Cowan Jr. (191) and Wisconsin's Ethan Happ (191), who finished tied for second. Palmer's 221 attempts were second in school history.

Isaac Copeland Jr. made a successful return to action following back surgery and put together a strong junior season. The 6-foot-9 forward was second on the team in scoring (12.9 ppg), rebounding (6.1 rpg) and blocked shots (1.0 bpg), setting personal bests in all three areas. In all, he reached double figures 23 times, including five 20-point performances. Copeland, a top-20 recruit coming out of high school, earned honorable-mention All-Big Ten honors by averaging 13.5 points on 51 percent shooting, including 43 percent from 3-point range, and was in double figures in eight of his final nine Big Ten contests.

Junior Isaiah Roby emerged as one of Nebraska's best players during the second half of last season following his move into the starting lineup on Jan. 15. Roby played his best basketball down the stretch, averaging 13.0 ppg, 8.0 rpg and 2.6 bpg over Nebraska's final eight games. He reached double figures in scoring in each of his final eight games. Roby had five or more blocked shots three times, including five in the Huskers' Big Ten Tournament loss to Michigan.

Roby is one of only two returning power conference players to total 50 blocks and 50 assists last season, joining Missouri's Jontay Porter. Roby's 63 blocked shots ranked 10th on NU's single-season list and was the most by a Husker since the 2000-01 season.

For just the second time this decade, Nebraska returns a 1,000-point scorer to the lineup, as Glynn Watson Jr. enters his senior year with 1,041 career points. It is the 10th time in program history that the Huskers had a returning 1,000-point scorer. Watson is also ninth on NU's career steals list with 137 and needs 74 assists to crack the Huskers' career top-10 list in that category.

Watson was third on the team in scoring at 10.5 points per game in 2017-18 while pacing the Huskers in both assists (3.2 apg) and steals (1.4 spg).

Thorir Thorbjarnarson spent part of the summer playing for Iceland in the U-20 European Championships. Thorbjarnarson made his senior national team debut in 2017.

The only change on the coaching staff was the addition of Armon Gates, who recently served as the associate head coach at the University of Florida. Prior to that, he spent five years at Northwestern and also coached at TCU, Loyola (Ill.), Kent State and Western Kentucky.

Tim Miles is poised to become just the fourth Husker coach to win 100-or-more games at Nebraska in 2018-19. Miles enters his seventh season needing only 10 wins to pass both Doc Sadler and Moe Iba for third place on NU's career wins chart. Miles has guided the Huskers to a pair of postseason appearances.

NU set a school record with 13 conference wins, breaking the previous mark of 12 held by the 1965-66 and 1915-16 squads. Tim Miles is the only coach in school history to have multiple teams win 11 or more conference games.

4.	11	Big Ten	2013-14
	11	Missouri Valley	1924-25

The 2017-18 season marked the fourth time in school history that Nebraska increased its win total by double digits and the first time since a 16-game improvement in 1990-91. The other double-digit increases came in 1919-20 (12) and 1965-66 (10).

Nebraska's fourth-place finish matched its best since joining the Big Ten in 2011-12, and matched its best conference showing since a runner-up finish in the Big Eight in 1992-93.

Nebraska went 16-1 at Pinnacle Bank Arena in 2017-18 with the only loss coming in a 73-72 setback against eventual Final Four qualifier Kansas on Dec. 16. NU's .941 home winning percentage is the best since the 1982-83 campaign, while the 16 home wins were one shy of the school record. The Huskers will open the 2018-19 season with an 11-game home win streak.

5.	2017-18	16-1	.941

Nebraska's 9-0 Big Ten home mark - the only unbeaten conference mark in the Big Ten in 2017-18 - marked the first time the Huskers went unbeaten in conference play at home since the 1965-66 season.

SCHEDULE NOTES

- Nebraska's Nov. 6 season opener against Mississippi Valley State is the earliest season-opening date in school history. The previous earliest start came in the 2013-14 season when Nebraska faced Florida Gulf Coast on Nov. 8, 2013.
- The Huskers' non-conference schedule features only two first-time opponents. NU will take on Seton Hall at Pinnacle Bank Arena in the Gavitt Tipoff Games on Nov. 14, and will face Southwest Minnesota State on Dec. 29. The NU-Seton Hall game is the first Gavitt Games matchup in Lincoln, as the Huskers travelled to Villanova (2015) and St. John's (2017).
- The Huskers will play a trio of neutral-site games during non-conference play. NU will travel to the Sprint Center in Kansas City for the Hall of Fame Classic Powered by ShotTracker and play Missouri State in the opening round and either Texas Tech or USC the following evening. On Dec. 16, the Huskers will travel to Sioux Falls, S.D., for a matchup with former conference rival Oklahoma State at the Sanford Pentagon. It is the first matchup between the Huskers and Cowboys since 2011.
- Nebraska will play six of its 10 Division I non-conference games against teams which made either the NCAA Tournament or NIT last season. The list includes NCAA Tournament qualifiers Seton Hall, Clemson, Creighton and Cal State Fullerton, as well as NIT participants Oklahoma State and Southeastern Louisiana. NU will also face either Elite Eight finisher Texas Tech or NIT qualifier USC in Kansas City.
- The 2018-19 schedule features 20 Big Ten games, the most conference games that NU has ever played in a season. NU will have seven double-play opponents (Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan State, Minnesota, Penn State and Purdue). The Huskers' home single plays are Northwestern, Ohio State and Wisconsin, while the Huskers will travel to Indiana, Michigan and Rutgers.
- All 31 regular-season games will be broadcast live on TV or the Internet in 2018-19. Every Big Ten conference game is carried nationally on one of the Big Ten's television partners (FOX, FS1, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU, BTN or CBS). All 11 non-conference games will be on a Big Ten Network (BTN or BTN Plus), FS1 or an ESPN platform (ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU or ESPN3).

THOMAS ALLEN

#12 THOMAS ALLEN
SOPHOMORE | GUARD | 6-1 | 184 | RALEIGH, N.C.

2018-19 (Outlook)

As a freshman, Thomas Allen showed he was not afraid of the big moments. The 6-foot-1, 180-pound guard came off the bench against No. 13 Kansas and delivered a then-career high 13 points on 5-of-7 shooting to help the Huskers nearly stun the Final Four bound Jayhawks. It was the beginning of a three-game stretch where he averaged 11.0 points per game. The only freshman in the Huskers' rotation a year ago, Allen will be one of the front runners to move into the starting lineup this season. The Raleigh, N.C., native shot better than 35 percent from 3-point range in 2017-18, and Allen, a former top-100 recruit, has shown the ability to play either backcourt spot for the Huskers.

2017-18 (Freshman)

Allen was the only freshman to crack the Huskers' rotation, as he averaged 3.2 points and 1.0 rebound per contest while playing 32 contests. One of the first guards off the bench for the Big Red, he shot nearly 40 percent from the field, including 35 percent from 3-point range, and played nearly 10 minutes per contest.

Allen provided scoring punch off the bench, scoring six or more points on eight occasions, including a pair of double-figure performances. He enjoyed a breakout game against No. 13 Kansas on Dec. 16, setting then-personal bests in points (13), field goals (five), 3-pointers (three) and rebounds (two) in 14 minutes of work. He saw his most extensive action against Delaware State on Dec. 22, finishing with season highs of 14 points, four assists and two steals in a career-high 26 minutes of work. He made an early impact, coming off the bench with six points, including a pair of 3-pointers, and two assists in the win over Eastern Illinois on Nov. 11. Allen closed non-conference action on a high note, scoring all four of his points in a 10-0 run and adding a season-high four rebounds in the win over Stetson on Dec. 29.

He played in all 18 Big Ten games as one of the first guards off the bench. Allen tallied five points or more on five occasions, including an eight-point effort in the win over Wisconsin on Jan. 12. That was part of a three-game stretch where he averaged 5.7 ppg. He also had five points and two rebounds in seven minutes in a win over No. 14 Minnesota on Dec. 5 and six points, including a pair of 3-pointers, in the Huskers' win in Minneapolis on Feb. 6.

Before Nebraska

Allen was one of the nation's top high school shooters and was a consensus top-100 recruit for the class of 2018. A four-star prospect by ESPN, Scout and Rivals, Allen was rated the No. 11 prospect in New England by the New England Recruiting Report.

Allen spent his senior season at Brewster Academy, helping Coach Jason Smith's team win its fifth National Prep title and a perfect 33-0 record. Brewster became the first New England Prep School Athletic Conference (NEPSAC) AAA team to finish unbeaten since Maine Central institute in 1998. Allen was chosen as the NEPSAC Class AAA Player of the Year and first-team NEPSAC, averaging 18 points per game on 55 percent shooting, including 48 percent from 3-point range. He went 115 of 239 from 3-point range, highlighted by a school-record 11 3-pointers as part of a 50-point effort against Bridgton Academy. He scored 19 points on 8-of-10 shooting in the national prep school championship game against Northfield Mount Hermon (Mass.). Allen also made the all-tournament team at the National Prep School Invitational, an event that featured the 30 top prep schools in the country, plus several international teams, as he scored 21 points against South Kent (Conn.).

Allen spent his first three years at Garner High School, where he led the school to the North Carolina 4A State Championship as a sophomore in 2015. Allen averaged 18 points a game as Garner won its first boys basketball state championship. As a junior, Allen averaged 21.5 points, 5.6 assists, 3.1 rebounds and 2.5 steals per game as the Trojans won a school-record 29 games and advanced to the North Carolina Eastern Region Championship. For his efforts, Allen was named the Greater Neuse River Conference Player of the Year and was a second-team North Carolina Basketball Coaches Association selection in 2016.

Allen played for the Garner Road AAU program coached by Dwayne West. Allen joins fellow Garner Road product Isaac Copeland in the Husker program in 2018-19. Allen, who originally signed with North Carolina State, chose Nebraska over Kansas, Georgetown, and Xavier among others.

TANNER BORCHARDT

#20 TANNER BORCHARDT

SENIOR | FORWARD | 6-8 | 250 | GOTHENBERG, NEB.

CAREER HONORS

- NABC Honors Court (2017, 2018)
- Academic All-Big Ten (2017, 2017)
- Five-time Nebraska Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll
- Tom Osborne Citizenship Team (2016)

2018-19 (Outlook)

Throughout his time at Nebraska, Tanner Borchardt (pronounced Bor-kart) has shown what hard work and dedication can do. After making the team through a tryout in 2015, Borchardt has lost nearly 35 pounds in the last two years and put himself in position to play valuable minutes this season. Borchardt, who was recruited by several Division I schools to play offensive tackle, played in 20 games last year when the Huskers needed a physical presence inside. His work was rewarded in December of 2017, when he was put on scholarship. The move paid off quickly, as he set career highs in points (eight), rebounds (10) and blocked shots (two) in 14 minutes to help the Huskers subdue Stetson. At 6-foor-8, 250 pounds, Borchardt can provide muscle for the Huskers off the bench, and he possesses a good understanding of the game. Borchardt is in line to play major minutes following the departure of Duby Okeke and Jordy Tshimanga.

2017-18 (Junior)

Borchardt provided size and depth the post for the Husker front line. He played in 20 games, averaging 0.9 points and 1.8 rebounds per game in just under six minutes per contest. Borchardt played 10 or more minutes five times, including three times in Big Ten action. He played in NU's first seven games, scoring three points and grabbing three rebounds in five minutes against North Texas on Nov. 13, and adding three rebounds against both Marist (Nov. 24) and Long Beach State (Nov. 26). Borchardt played a then-career-high 11 minutes at No. 3 Michigan State on Dec. 3, pulling down three rebounds and dishing out an assist but did not play in NU's next four contests.

Borchardt played the final three minutes against Delaware State on Dec. 22, and was surprised by the team as he was placed on scholarship for the second semester. His hard work in practice paid off against

Stetson on Dec. 29, when he came off the bench in the second half to set career high in points (eight), rebounds (10) and blocked shots (two) in 14 second-half minutes, as the Huskers rallied for the nine-point win. Borchardt keyed another second-half comeback at Northwestern on Jan. 2, as he had four points, two rebounds and two blocked shots in 12 minutes as Nebraska pulled away down the stretch. He played in NU's next six games, including grabbing four rebounds in 13 minutes in an overtime loss at Penn State on Jan. 12, but saw his role reduced as Nebraska went to a smaller lineup during the second half of Big Ten play. He played just five minutes in NU's last 11 contests.

2016-17 (Sophomore)

Borchardt rejoined the Husker program on Feb. 2, 2017, and served as a valuable practice player for the Huskers. He appeared in one game, playing the final minute against Penn State on Feb. 14.

2015-16 (Freshman)

A late addition to the Husker roster, Borchardt joined the Huskers after making the team in an open tryout in October. He appeared in eight contests, totaling six points and nine rebounds in 28 minutes of work. He set season bests in points (four) and rebounds (two) in four minutes of work against Mississippi Valley State in the opener on Nov. 14. It marked one of three games where he grabbed two rebounds, as he also did twice against Rutgers (Jan. 9 and Feb. 3). In all, he grabbed at least one rebound in six of his eight appearances.

Before Nebraska

Borchardt was a multi-sport standout at Gothenburg High School, and was a finalist for the Lincoln Journal Star Male Athlete of the Year. On the basketball court, he totaled 1,191 career points, 875 rebounds and 186 blocks during his four-year career. As a senior, he averaged 16.8 points, 12.5 rebounds, 2.7 blocks and 2.4 assists per game, earning second-team Class C-1 honors. His best performance came against Cozad when he had 29 points and 22 rebounds. In addition to his basketball exploits, he was a first-team all-state defensive lineman who averaged nearly seven tackles per game and also won the all-class Gold Medal at the state track meet in the shot put with a throw of 59-6. Borchardt was recruited by several Division I programs in football, including Wyoming, Colorado State and Ohio among others. He was also an excellent performer in the classroom, as he was named valedictorian of his class and was an Academic All-State pick by the Lincoln Journal Star.

Personal

Tanner is the son of Mark and Annette Borchardt, and was born on Jan. 7, 1997, in Lincoln. He has one older brother, Travis, and two sisters, Tressa and Tasia. Borchardt is a management major at Nebraska. He earned academic All-Big Ten honors in 2017. He is a four-time member of the Nebraska Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll. He was also named to the Tom Osborne Citizenship Team.

ISAAC COPELAND JR.

#14 ISAAC COPELAND JR.
SENIOR | FORWARD | 6-9 | 225 | RALEIGH, N.C.

CAREER HONORS

- 2018 Honorable-Mention All-Big Ten (Coaches and Media)
- 2016-17 Second-team Preseason All-Big East
- 2014-15 All-Big East Rookie Selection
- Three-time Big East Rookie of the Week

2018-19 (Outlook)

One of the biggest questions entering last season was the health of Isaac Copeland Jr., who had back surgery in March of 2017 after transferring from Georgetown. The multi-skilled forward emphatically answered those questions by establishing career bests in scoring (12.9 ppg), rebounding (6.1 rpg) and blocked shots (1.0 bpg) while also shooting 37 percent from 3-point range. Copeland, who ranked third among Big Ten newcomers in both scoring and rebounding, played some of his best basketball down the stretch, averaging 15.8 ppg on 58 percent shooting in the Huskers' final nine Big Ten games. A former five-star recruit coming out of high school, Copeland has put in an exceptional offseason working not only on his skill set, but also increasing strength and flexibility. Nebraska Head Coach Tim Miles believes that Copeland can make another jump, and be an All-Big Ten performer in 2018-19.

2017-18 (Junior)

Copeland proved to be a valuable addition to the NU roster, playing a significant role in helping the Huskers to 22 wins and the school's first postseason appearance in four years. He earned honorable-mention All-Big Ten honors from the coaches and media, finishing second on the team in scoring (12.9 ppg), rebounding (6.1 rpg) and blocked shots (1.0 bpg), setting personal bests in all three areas. He was 13th in the Big Ten in blocked shots and 17th in rebounding. Copeland reached double figures 23 times, including five 20-point performances, as the Huskers went 17-6 when he reached double figures. The 6-foot-9 forward was second on the team with three double-doubles with two of them coming in Big Ten action.

Copeland showed his all-around game in Big Ten play, raising his scoring average to 13.5 points, including 43 percent from 3-point range, along with 5.8 rebounds and 1.0 blocks per game. He had 14 of his double-figure efforts in Big Ten play, including a stretch of eight in nine games to close conference play. Over his final nine conference games, he averaged 15.8 points per game on 55 percent shooting, including 54 percent from 3-point range, and 6.3 caroms per contest. Copeland closed the regular season with his third double-double of the year with 17 points and a season-high 12 rebounds vs. Penn State on Feb. 25. He tallied three 20-point games in Big Ten action, including 23 points and seven boards in a win over Rutgers on Jan. 24, and a double-double with 23 points on 8-of-11 shooting and 11 rebounds in a win over Iowa on Jan. 27. He also keyed NU's comeback at Penn State on Jan. 21, scoring 19 of his 21 points after halftime as NU rallied from a 16-point deficit to send the game into overtime.

Copeland got off to a slow start in non-conference play, as he returned to action following back surgery in February of 2017. After averaging just seven points in his first three games, Copeland had a season-high 30 point effort on 12-of-14 shooting and eight rebounds in the win over North Dakota on Nov. 19. It was one of eight double-figure efforts in non-conference play, highlighted by a 20-point, 11-rebound performance in a loss at Creighton on Dec. 9, and 12 points and nine rebounds in a one-point loss to No. 13 Kansas on Dec. 16.

2016-17 (Medical Redshirt)

Copeland joined the Husker roster at the start of the second semester, but did not practice with the team after back surgery in February of 2017.

Before Nebraska

Copeland spent two-plus seasons at Georgetown before leaving the program in December of 2016. In seven games, he averaged 5.4 points and 3.3 rebounds per game, highlighted by a 13-point, 13-rebound effort against Maryland. He reached double figures in three straight games to open the season, but played just 49 minutes in his last four contests as he dealt with a back injury. He was a second-team preseason All-Big East selection prior to the 2016-17 season.

During his sophomore campaign, he started all 33 games for the Hoyas, averaging 11.1 points, 5.4 rebounds and 2.0 assists per game, ranking third on the team in scoring and second in both rebounds and assists. Copeland reached double figures 20 times, highlighted by a career-high 32-point, nine-rebound effort at Marquette, as he hit 13-of-20 shots from the field. He also had 23 points and eight rebounds against St. John's and a 21-point, six-rebound effort against Duke. He had three games with at least 20 points during his sophomore campaign.

He played in all 33 games as a freshman, making 11 starts, and earned a spot on the All-Big East Rookie Team. A three-time Big East Rookie of the Week, he averaged 6.8 points and 3.8 rebounds per game. He reached double figures 11 times, including a season-high 20-point, eight-carom effort at Seton Hall.

Copeland, who was rated the No. 16 player in the class of 2014 by ESPN and a five-star recruit by Rivals, helped lead Brewster Academy to the NEPSAC Class AAA championship and to the National Prep Championship in 2013-14. As a senior, he averaged 15.6 points, 7.0 rebounds, 2.3 steals, 2.3 assists and 2.2 blocks and was an All-NEPSAC First Team selection in 2014. He was the Gatorade New Hampshire Boys Basketball Player of the Year in 2013-14. He was a teammate of former Husker guard Anton Gill at Ravenscroft High School, leading the school to the 2011-12 North Carolina 3A State Championship.

2018-19 (Outlook)

James Palmer Jr. is back as the catalyst of the Husker offense and one of the best players in the Big Ten. The 6-foot-6 guard earned first-team all-conference honors in 2017-18, averaging 17.2 points, 4.4 rebounds and 3.0 assists per game and returned for his senior season after testing the waters for the NBA Draft. Palmer's return gives the Huskers a returning first-team all-conference pick for just the second time in the last two decades. His competitiveness and leadership gives the Huskers a potential All-American candidate. In his first season at Nebraska, he showed the ability to take over games, highlighted by 24 second-half points in a win over Maryland and a career-high 34-point performance at Ohio State. Palmer can hurt teams with his size and athleticism and gets to the foul line at a high rate, pacing the conference in free throw attempts in 2017-18. Palmer, who began his collegiate career at Miami, is the leading returning scorer in Big Ten play after averaging 18.8 ppg last season, the most by a Husker in conference play since Aleks Maric in 2007-08.

2017-18 (Junior)

Palmer emerged as one of the Big Ten's best performers in his first season as a Husker. The 6-foot-6 guard capped his first season in the Big Ten by being named a first-team all-conference honoree from the Big Ten coaches, averaging 17.2 points, 4.4 rebounds and 3.0 assists per game. Palmer, who was fifth in the Big Ten in scoring, ranked second on the team in assists and third in steals. He finished eighth on NU's single-season scoring list with 568 points, while finishing in the top five in free throws made (163, fourth) and attempted (221, second). A first-team all-district selection by the NABC and USBWA, Palmer was the highest scoring newcomer in the Big Ten since Ohio State's D'Angelo Russell averaged 19.3 points per game in 2014-15. On the season, Palmer led NU in double-figure games (31) and 20-point games (eight), highlighted by a career-high 34-point effort at No. 13 Ohio State. He played his best down the stretch, averaging 19.9 ppg, 4.3 rebounds and 3.5 assists per game over Nebraska's final 14 games when the Huskers went with a smaller lineup.

Palmer was one of two Huskers to start all 18 Big Ten games, as he averaged 18.8 points, 4.4 rebounds and 3.4 assists per game. He was third in the conference in scoring average and 11th in assists in conference games. He reached double figures in 17 of 18 games, including six 20-point games. Palmer closed Big Ten play with 12 straight double-figure efforts, as he averaged 20.8 ppg on 48 percent shooting in those contests. That streak began with one of the most dramatic moments of the year, a 3-pointer with 0.3 seconds left to cap a 24-point effort and lift the Huskers to a one-point win over Illinois on Jan. 15. That performance began a stretch where he scored at least 15 points in nine straight games, including five 20-point efforts. He earned Big Ten Player-of-the-Week accolades on Jan. 22, averaging 21.5 ppg on 56 percent shooting in wins over Illinois and then-No. 23 Michigan. He enjoyed the best performance of his career at No. 13 Ohio State on Jan. 22, scoring 34 points, including 5-of-9 from 3-point range. His 34-point effort was the most by a Husker in a road game since 2006. Palmer had 28 points and five dimes in a win over Iowa on Jan. 27 before following up with another 28-point effort at Wisconsin on Jan. 29. In that game, Palmer scored 21 of his points in the second half and added eight rebounds in the Huskers' comeback win. He nearly had his first double-double in a win at Minnesota on Feb. 6 with 19 points, a career-high nine assists and seven rebounds before turning in a record-tying performance in a win over Maryland on Feb. 13. In that game, he tied a school record with 24 second-half points, as part of a 26-point, five-assist performance to give the Huskers their 20th win of the year.

2016-17 (Redshirt)

Before Nebraska

Palmer spent two seasons at the University of Miami playing for Coach Jim Larrañaga, helping the Hurricanes make back-to-back postseason appearances, including a Sweet 16 appearance in 2016.

As a sophomore, Palmer played in 34 games, averaging 3.5 points and 1.2 rebounds per game for the Hurricanes, who reached the Sweet 16. Palmer reached double figures twice as a sophomore, including a 14-point effort on 6-of-9 shooting against Mississippi State. He also reached double figures with 11 points and added season highs in both assists (three) and rebounds (six) against the University of Texas-Rio Grande Valley in the season opener.

During his freshman campaign, Palmer averaged 3.7 points and 1.4 rebounds per game in 13.3 minutes per outing. He made five starts for the NIT runners-up, including a season-high 17-point effort in 27 minutes at Virginia Tech. In that game, he hit five 3-pointers and grabbed a season-best four rebounds.

Palmer attended St. John's College High School in Washington, D.C., where he was ranked as the top player in the region by ESPN.com. He averaged 15.7 points, 3.0 rebounds and 2.0 assists per game as a senior for Coach Sean McAloon, as the school went 27-4 and played in the D.C. State Athletic Association semifinal. He was ranked in the top 100 players in the class of 2014 by both Scout and Rivals. He closed his career with 31 points in the Crab Ball Classic, featuring the top players from Baltimore and Washington D.C. Palmer played his AAU ball for Team Takeover.

ISAIAH ROBY

#15 ISAIAH ROBY
JUNIOR | FORWARD | 6-8 | 230 | DIXON, ILL.

CAREER HONORS

- Nebraska Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll (Spring 2017)
- Tom Osborne Citizenship Team (2017)

2018-19 (Outlook)

It was no coincidence that Nebraska took off once Isaiah Roby was inserted into the starting lineup in mid-January. The 6-foot-8 junior forward emerged as one of the Huskers' primary options over the final two months of the season. Roby, who led NU in both rebounding (6.3 rpg) and blocked shots (2.0 bpg), closed the year with a flourish. Over the Huskers' final eight games, Roby averaged 13.0 points, 8.0 rebounds and 2.7 blocks per game, recording three of his four double-doubles in that stretch. With a 7-1 wingspan, Roby helped anchor a Husker defense that ranked seventh nationally in blocked shots and finished second in the conference in field goal percentage during Big Ten play. He also possesses a unique skillset with his length and basketball IQ. Roby joined 2018 Big Ten Player of the Year Keita Bates-Diop, as the only conference players to total more than 50 assists and blocked shots. As he enters his junior campaign, Roby has worked to add additonal strength to while expanding his shooting touch. He showed the ability to knock down 3-pointers as a sophomore, hitting 41 percent from beyond the arch, including 11-of-21 in Big Ten games. If he continues to make strides and stays healthy, Roby has the potential to be an All-Big Ten performer in 2018-19.

2017-18 (Sophomore)

Roby emerged as a difference maker for the Huskers, especially during the second half of the 2017-18 campaign. Roby averaged 8.7 points on a team best 57 percent shooting, topping Nebraska in both rebounding (6.3 rpg) and blocked shots (2.0 bpg). He finished fourth in the Big Ten in blocks, as his 63 blocks were the most by a Husker since 2001. Roby joined Ohio State's Keita Bates-Diop as the only Big Ten players to total at least 50 blocks and 50 assists in 2017-18. Roby led NU with four double-doubles and reached double figures 16 times. Roby played some of his best basketball over the final six weeks of the season, averaging 13.0 points on 63 percent shooting along with 8.8 rebounds and 2.6 blocks per game over his final eight games. Roby closed the season with a pair of strong performances in the postseason. He led the Huskers in scoring (16), rebounds (seven) and blocks (five) in the Big Ten Tournament against Michigan on March 2, and nearly had a double-double with 10 points and eight caroms at Mississippi State on March 14.

In Big Ten play, Roby made 12 starts and averaged 9.3 points on 61 percent shooting, and team best in rebounds (6.9 rpg) and blocks (1.8 bpg), as he was third in the Big Ten in blocked shots, sixth in field goal percentage and 10th in rebounding. He reached double figures 11 times, highlighted by a career-high 19-point performance at Minnesota on Feb. 6. In that game, Roby went 8-of-10 from the floor and added eight rebounds and five blocked shots. He followed that performance with three consecutive double-doubles (10 points/11 rebounds vs. Rutgers; 11 points/10 rebounds vs. Maryland; 14 points/10 rebounds at Illinois) from Feb. 10-20.

Roby began the year with a flourish, setting then-personal bests with 11 points, 13 rebounds and six blocked shots against Eastern Illinois on Nov. 11. He followed by putting up double-figure efforts in wins over North Texas (Nov. 13) and North Dakota (Nov. 19). Roby was slowed by a sprained ankle suffered against Long Beach State on Nov. 26 before regaining his form late in non-conference action. He had 10 points, including a pair of 3-pointers, in 13 minutes at Creighton before adding eight points, six rebounds and four blocked shots vs. No. 13 Kansas on Dec. 16.

2016-17 (Freshman)

Roby had a late start because of an offseason injury, but was an essential part of the Huskers' rotation as a freshman. He played in 30 games, including four starts, and averaged 3.1 points and 2.9 rebounds per game. Roby ranked third on the team with 25 blocked shots, as his blocks total was the fifth highest by a Husker freshman.

Roby started to emerge in Big Ten play despite averaging just 3.3 points and 3.4 rebounds per game. He led the Huskers in blocked shots (17) while playing just 16.5 minutes per game. Roby closed Big Ten play with his best effort of the year, scoring a season-high 10 points on 4-of-5 shooting against Michigan on March 5. He put together his best stretch of games in back-to-back performances against No. 9 Wisconsin and Penn State. Against the Badgers, he had four points, a season-high eight rebounds, three blocked shots and two steals in 15 minutes. Against Penn State on Feb. 14, he had six points on 3-of-4 shooting and two rebounds before suffering a sprained ankle. Roby keyed NU's win at No. 16 Indiana on Dec. 28 with eight points, six rebounds and three assists in 21 minutes, highlighted by a dunk featured on SportsCenter's top-10 plays of the day. He earned extensive playing time while Ed Morrow Jr. was injured and made four starts in Big Ten action. Roby set season bests in both rebounds (eight) and blocked shots (four) against Ohio State on Jan. 18.

Roby, who missed nearly three months of work with a pelvic injury, was eased into action during non-conference action. His best performance came against South Dakota on Dec. 5 when he had eight points and two boards in 18 minutes of work.

Before Nebraska

Roby starred for Coach Jason Mead at Dixon High School, finishing his career as the school's No. 2 all-time leading scorer with 1,328 points while setting school records in both rebounds (939) and blocked shots (327). Roby also finished fourth in school history with 366 assists. He was a four-star recruit by Scout, 247 and Rivals, which ranked him No. 114 in the class of 2016.

As a senior, he averaged 19.7 points, 10.5 rebounds, 5.5 assists and 3.9 blocks per game to lead Dixon to a 25-4 mark. He was a second-team all-state (all classes) by the Chicago Sun-Times and a first-team Class 3A all-state by the Chicago Tribune. His best performances were a 24-point, 16-rebound, 10-assist performance against Christ the King and a 13-point, 23-rebound, 15-blocked shot effort against Burlington Central.

As a junior, Roby was a second-team all-state Class 3A selection by the AP and a second-team all-state in Classes 3A/4A by the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association. He led Dixon to a 28-2 record and a regional finals appearance in 2014-15. Roby averaged 12.5 points, 9.8 rebounds, 3.8

Glynn Watson Jr. returns for his fourth season as the starting point guard for the Huskers. The 6-foot senior has made 98 appearances, including 77 starts, entering his senior campaign. Not only did he become Nebraska's 29th 1,000-point scorer last season, but Watson is on pace to finish in the top-10 on NU's career lists in both assists and steals. When he reached the 1,000-point mark, he became the third Husker from Winchester St. Joseph High School to reach 1,000 points at Nebraska, joining Carl Hayes (1990-92) and Clifford Scales (1988-91).

Last season, Watson averaged 10.5 points per game and set career highs in both assists and rebounds, while improving his assist-to-turnover ratio. He also became a much better defender, keying a Husker defense that ranked second in field-goal percentage defense and first in 3-point percentage defense. A prolific scorer with 11 career 20-point games, Watson makes great decisions with the ball and has a career 2.1-to-1 assist-to-turnover ratio. Throughout his career, Watson has shown the ability to rise to the occasion when the Huskers need a big play in the defining moments, a trait that NU will rely on with its senior leader.

2017-18 (Junior)

Watson played in all 33 games and made 32 starts, coming off the bench for the Huskers' Senior Day game against Penn State. He was one of three Huskers to average double figures on the year, ranking third on the team with 10.5 ppg, while also pacing the Huskers in both assists (3.2 apg) and steals (1.4 spg). Watson ranked sixth in the Big Ten in steals per game, eighth in assist-to-turnover ratio (2.2-to-1) and 13th in assists, as Nebraska went 13-5 in conference play to tie for fourth in the conference. He reached double figures 17 times on the year, including four 20-point games. Watson turned in his best performance of the year in a win over No. 14 Minnesota on Dec. 5 with a season-high 29 points, a career-high nine rebounds and three steals. He also had 26 points and a career-high six steals against Long Beach State in the AdvoCare Invitational on Nov. 26, and 21 points at Penn State (Jan. 12) and against Eastern Illinois (Nov. 11). Watson keyed NU's comeback wins against Northwestern on Jan. 2 with 19 points, six rebounds and six assists and at Wisconsin on Jan. 29 with 15 points and five assists. He also played a pivotal role in NU's win at Rutgers on Jan. 24, hitting two big baskets after the Scarlet Knights cut the deficit to two and took a charge with 14 seconds left to preserve NU's 60-54 win.

2016-17 (Sophomore)

Watson was one of the top young guards in the Big Ten, starting 29 games and averaging 13.0 points, 2.6 assists and 1.6 steals per game. Watson not only finished second on the team in both scoring and assists, but placed among the Big Ten leaders in steals (third), free throw percentage (.810, seventh) and scoring (18th) during his sophomore campaign. Watson totaled double figures 21 times, including seven 20-point performances.

He provided two of the most memorable moments for the Huskers in 2016-17, hitting a pair of free throws with 8.8 seconds left to give Nebraska the lead in an 80-78 win over Dayton and converting a 3-point play at Ohio State with 11.3 seconds left to give NU the margin of victory in a 58-57 win.

In Big Ten action, Watson finished 18th in the conference in scoring at 13.4 ppg, while finishing among the Big Ten leaders in steals (1.4 fifth), 3-pointers per game (1.9, 15th) and 3-point percentage (.425, 11th).

Watson reached double figures 13 times in conference play, including a trio of 20-point efforts. He sparked NU's win over No. 16 Indiana in the Big Ten opener with a game-high 26 points along with four assists and a career-high five steals, scoring 19 of his 26 points in the second half. He led NU to a 3-0 start in conference play, capped by a career-high 34-point effort in the win over Iowa. Watson went 11-of-18 from the field, including a blistering 7-of-8 shooting from 3-point range. His seven 3-pointers was one off NU's single game record, while his .875 percentage was the fourth-highest total in school history. Watson also shined in a loss at Michigan, scoring 20 of his 22 points in the second half.

Watson started 12 of NU's 13 non-conference games and showed his ability to impact the game at both ends. Not only did Watson post four 20-point games in NU's first seven contests, but he had four games with at least four steals, including a career-high five steals on two occasions. He opened the year with a then-career-high 23 points on 9-of-14 shooting along with a season-high six assists and five rebounds against Sacramento State on Nov. 13. Watson shined in NU's win over Dayton at the Wooden Legacy on Nov. 24, recording 20 points, a career-high five steals and three assists. One night later, he poured in a then-career high 27 points on 10-of-18 shooting against No. 24 UCLA. Watson scored 21 of his 27 points in the second half, as the Huskers trimmed a 15-point deficit to two before UCLA pulled away late. Watson added another five-steal performance against Virginia Tech on Nov. 27, as he averaged 16.3 points, 3.7 rebounds 3.3 steals and 3.0 assists per game in three games at the Wooden Legacy. His fourth 20-point game of the year came at Clemson on Nov. 30 in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge, when he also matched his career high with six rebounds and added four steals and four assists.

2015-16 (Freshman)

Watson proved to be an impact newcomer in the Big Ten, playing in all 34 games for the Huskers, including 16 starts. The 6-foot guard averaged 8.6 points, 2.4 assists and 1.2 steals per game. Watson ranked fourth among Big Ten rookies in both steals and assists, and earned a place on NU's freshman top-10 lists in points (292, eighth), assists (83, fifth), steals (40, fifth) and field goals (115, sixth). He posted a 2.4-to-1 assist-to-turnover ratio, which was the best by any Husker guard in the last decade.

Watson came off the bench in the Big Ten Tournament, averaging 10.6 points per

2018-19 (Outlook)

After a year of waiting in the wings, sophomore Nana Akenten (pronounced Na-nuh uh-ken-ten) has an opportunity to make a significant contribution this season. Akenten, a 6-foot-6, 218-pound guard, backed up seniors Anton Gill and Evan Taylor on the wing, and is one of the front runners to see time at the position this winter. Although he played in just seven games, going against Taylor, Gill and James Palmer Jr. in practice every day helped Akenten make strides in his game. A former top-150 recruit out of high school, he has the shooting ability and athleticism to make an impact, and his playing time will be determined on finding the consistency needed to flourish at the Big Ten level.

2017-18 (Freshman)

Akenten provided depth on the wing as a freshman. He played in seven games, totaling seven points and two rebounds in 21 minutes of work. He connected on 3-pointers against both Marist (Nov. 24) and Delaware State (Dec. 22) and split a pair of free throws against No. 23 Michigan on Jan. 18. He played a season-high six minutes in a loss at No. 3 Michigan State on Dec. 3. He grabbed rebounds at St. John's on Nov. 16, and in the win over Marist.

Before Nebraska

Akenten was a three-year performer for Coach Rob Brost at Bolingbrook High School, helping the school to a pair of third-place Class 4A finishes during his career. Akenten emerged as one of the nation's biggest risers in the class of 2017, finishing as a four-star recruit by Scout and 247Sports after a strong senior campaign. He was also among the top-150 players nationally in the final rankings by both Rivals and 247Sports.

As a senior, Akenten earned first-team Class 4A All-State honors by the Associated Press and the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association and was a second-team all-state performer among all classes by both the Chicago Tribune and Chicago Sun Times. He placed seventh in the Mr. Basketball voting in the state of Illinois and was the Player of the Year by the Joliet Herald News in 2017.

Akenten averaged 14.8 points and 5.7 rebounds per game in helping Bolingbrook to a 30-2 record and third-place finish in Illinois' largest class in 2017. He shot 49 percent from the field, including 46 percent from 3-point range as Bolingbrook was nationally ranked for most of the season. He was the MVP of the Hinsdale Central Holiday Classic after posting a 23-point, 13-rebound effort and had a season-high 31 points against Belleville East.

As a junior, he helped BHS to the Class 4A regional championship game as the team replaced four starters as he averaged 14.0 points, 6.9 rebounds and 1.0 steal per game. For his efforts, he was a special-mention Class 3A/4A all-state selection, a first-team all-area selection and a first-team All-Southwest Suburban Conference Blue Division honoree. As a sophomore, he played an instrumental role in helping Bolingbrook to a 25-9 record and a third-place finish at the Class 4A State Tournament. He also played with the Illinois Celtics/Hoopers AAU program under Coach Quintin Garrison.

In addition to his efforts on the basketball court, Akenten also ran track, qualifying for the state meet as part of the 400-meter relay in each of his final two seasons. Akenten selected Nebraska over a number of schools, including UNLV, SMU and Colorado State.

Personal

Nana is the son of Margaret Oduko and Maxwell Akenten and was born on September 17, 1998, in Gary, Indiana. His full name is Nana Yaw Waife Akenten. Akenten has not declared a major at Nebraska.

CAREER HONORS

- Husker Power Lifter of the Year (2017-18)

2018-19 (Outlook)

Justin Costello returns after a promising redshirt campaign. The 6-foot-1, 200-pound guard gained nearly 20 pounds since arriving on campus, and was chosen by his teammates as the Lifter of the Year last spring for his efforts in the weight room. On the court, Costello adds depth and shooting in the Husker backcourt, as he averaged 18.6 points per game, including 67 3-pointers as a senior at Elkhorn South. He joins high school teammate Johnny Trueblood on the Husker roster, as the pair helped Elkhorn South to a Class B state title in 2015. If Costello, a walk-on, can continue to make strides on both ends of the court, he could be in position to eventually earn a spot in NU's rotation.

2017-18 (Redshirt)

Costello redshirted in 2017-18 and worked with the Husker scout team in practice.

Before Nebraska

Costello was a four-year starter for Elkhorn South, helping the Storm to three Class B state tournament appearances during his high school career.

As a senior for Coach Nolan Reilly, Costello led Elkhorn South to the 2017 Nebraska Class B State Tournament, averaging 18.6 points, 3.9 rebounds, 3.5 assists and 1.8 steals per game to earn first-team Class B honors from both the Omaha World-Herald and Lincoln Journal Star. Costello shot 43 percent from the field, including 67 3-pointers, and 78 percent from the line for the Storm. He had a pair of 30-point games as a senior in helping Elkhorn South finish with an 18-7 record, including a 39-point outburst against Lincoln Southwest. In that game, Costello went 9-of-11 from 3-point range, one of seven games where he had at least four 3-pointers in a game in 2016-17.

A three-time all-state pick, he earned second-team All-Class B honors from the Omaha World-Herald and Lincoln Journal Star as a junior, he averaged 18.0 points and 3.1 rebounds per game and was an honorable-mention pick as a sophomore, as Elkhorn South went 21-5 and won its first Class B state title. He was also a three-time all-conference pick.

He played AAU ball for the Omaha Sports Academy and Coach Jim Simons, reaching the quarterfinals in the Fab 48 in 2016.

In addition to his basketball exploits, Costello ran one year of track and played soccer for Elkhorn South as a senior, helping the school to a state title in 2017. He was also an honor roll member throughout his high school career at Elkhorn South.

Thorir Thorbjarnarson (pronounced Thor-EAR thorb-YAR-nar-son) watched and learned last season. Playing behind senior wings Anton Gill and Evan Taylor, Thorbjarnarson's time on the court was limited, but he honed his craft on the scout team against a veteran unit. At 6-foot-6, 206 pounds, Thorbjarnarson has added 15 pounds since arriving on campus, giving him additional strength to match up on the wing. He possesses a high basketball IQ and spent a good portion of the summer playing for his native Iceland in the U-20 European Championships. Thorbjarnarson's opportunities will come as he continues to improve on his long-range shooting and transitioning to the college game.

2018 (Summer)

Thorbjarnarson played for Iceland's U-20 National Team this July. At the FIBA U-20 European Championships, he averaged 9.4 points, 4.0 rebounds, 3.7 assists and 1.6 steals per game, ranking second on the team in scoring and first in assists. He closed tournament action with three straight double figure efforts and averaged 18.5 points on 67 percent shooting, including 55 percent from 3-point range, in Iceland's final two contests.

A first-team Class B all-state performer from both publications, Trueblood averaged 19.6 points per game in three state tournament games, including a 17-point effort while playing with a sprained ankle in a 60-51 win over Sidney in the state championship at Pinnacle Bank Arena.

DACHON BURKE JR.

#11 DACHON BURKE JR.
JUNIOR | GUARD | 6-4 | 180 | ORANGE, N.J.

2018-19 (Outlook)

During Tim Miles' tenure at Nebraska, one of the constants has been an influx of impact transfer guards. From All-Big Ten selections Terran Petteway, Andrew White III and James Palmer Jr., Miles and his staff have been able to find and develop players to become all-conference caliber performers early in their Husker career.

Junior guard Dachon Burke (pronounced DAY-shawn) could be the next standout Husker when beginning as early as next season. The 6-foot-4, 180-pounder began his career at Robert Morris, where he garnered all-Northeast Conference honors in 2018. Last season, Burke averaged 17.6 points, 5.8 rebounds, 2.5 assists and 2.1 steals per game for the Colonials, leading the NEC in steals and ranking fourth in scoring. He tallied 10 20-point games, and reached double-figures in 30 of 31 contests. Burke will use this year to work on his all-around game and be in a position to be one of the Huskers' go-to players when he is eligible in 2019-20.

Before Nebraska

Burke comes to Nebraska after posting impressive numbers at Robert Morris University during his sophomore campaign in 2017-18. He earned second-team All-Northeast Conference recognition for Coach Andrew Toole, averaging a team-high 17.6 points per game while also adding 5.8 rebounds, 2.5 assists and 2.1 steals per game as a sophomore. Burke led the NEC in steals per game and ranked fourth in scoring and 14th in rebounding. He put up 30 double-figure efforts in 2017-18 and finished the year on RMU's top-10 list in both points (562, seventh) and field goals (210, eighth). A four-time NEC Player of the Week, Burke had a pair of double-doubles and had 11 20-point efforts, including a career-high 29-point outburst against eventual tournament champion LIU Brooklyn.

As a freshman, he played in 33 games, including 17 starts, and averaged 7.6 points, 3.9 rebounds and 1.5 steals per game. He had 11 double-figure games, including a season-high 17-point effort against Sacred Heart.

He prepped at Coastal Academy, averaging 17.2 points, 6.0 assists and 4.4 rebounds per game after playing his high school basketball at Orange (N.J.) High School. As a senior, he averaged 17.0 points and 5.4 assists per game and was second-team All-Essex County in 2015.

Dachon is the son of Tamika Rumph and Dachon Burke Sr., and was born on Nov. 25, 1997, in Orange, N.J. He has one brother, Tamir Coram, and one sister, Quaniesh Rumph. Burke majors in human development and family science.

#2 DEDOCH CHAN

SOPHOMORE | FORWARD | 6-8 | 210 | ROCHESTER, MINN.

2018-19 (Outlook)

A late addition to the Husker roster, junior college transfer Dedoch Chan (pronounced DEE Doe-ch) gives the Huskers an influx of size on the interior. Chan was a productive player at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, averaging 16.8 points and 8.3 rebounds per game. At 6-8, 215 points, Chan will provide depth to a frontline which returns Isaac Copeland and Isaiah Roby, but a lack of depth provides ample playing time. Chan, who was originally born in Omaha, showed glimpses of his potential with seven straight 20-point games late in his freshman season. He also has the ability to step out to 3-point range, where he shot over 30 percent as a freshman. Chan will look to follow in the footsteps of Evan Taylor, another former junior college performer who became a two-year starter and team co-captain in 2017-18.

Before Nebraska

Chan comes to Nebraska after spending his freshman year at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College. In his lone season at the school, Chan helped the Bulldogs and Coach Wendell Weathers to a 16-9 record, averaging 16.8 points and 8.3 rebounds per game to pace the team in both categories. A first-team NJCAA All-Region 23 selection, he totaled eight double-doubles as a freshman, highlighted by a 33-point, 17-rebound performance against Meridian CC. A two-time Mississippi Association of Community & Junior Colleges Player of the Week, Chan was a first-team All-MACJC South selection following his freshman campaign. He had nine games of at least 20 points, including a stretch of seven straight down the stretch, as he shot 47 percent from the field, 31 percent from 3-point range and 73 percent from the line for the year. Chan had a season-high 34 point effort in a four-point win over Southwest Mississippi and had eight or more rebounds on 14 occasions, including three games of at least 15 rebounds.

Chan prepped at John Marshall High School in Rochester, Minn., playing for Kirk Thompson in his final two high school seasons. As a senior, he garnered All-Big Nine Conference honors, averaging 16.0 points per game on 54 percent shooting along with 8.0 rebounds and 2.4 assists per game. He helped John Marshall to a 25-4 record and a Section 1AAAA Runner-up finish. He transferred to John Marshall a junior and averaged 7.3 points point and 5.0 rebounds per game despite missing nearly a third of the season after moving. As a sophomore, Chan led Albert Lea High School with 22 points and eight rebounds a game to earn first-team All-Big Nine Conference accolades.

Personal

Dedoch is the son of Mary Muon and Chan Changor and was born in Omaha on Nov. 11, 1998. He is the youngest of four children with two older sisters, Nya and Nyabiuth, and an older brother, Bany. Chan has not declared a major at Nebraska.

KARRINGTON DAVIS

#10 KARRINGTON DAVIS

2018-19 (Outlook)

Freshman Karrington Davis has been a pair of successful teams throughout his school career. As a sophomore, he was a vital cog in helping Chaminade Prep in St. Louis to a state title in Missouri. Last season, he was part of a Montverde (Fla.) Academy team that went 35-0 and won the High School Nationals. One of nine Division I signees on the Montverde roster last season, Davis has the size and ability to potentially thrive in Miles' guard-oriented offense. Unfortunately, Davis will miss his freshman year after suffering an achilles injury in practice in October of 2018

Before Nebraska

Davis spent his senior season at national power Montverde Academy (Fla.) playing for Coach Kevin Boyle. The team went 35-0 and won the Geico High School Nationals with a 76-58 win over No. 2 University (Fla.) School and a 71-53 win over No. 3 Findlay (Nev.) Prep in April of 2018. He battled injuries for a good portion of his senior year, but was one of nine Division I signees on the Montverde roster, a group that includes four players in ESPN's Top-100. The team featured RJ Barrett, the No. 1 player in the class of 2018, and an expected lottery pick in 2019.

Prior to transferring to Montverde for his senior year, he played two seasons of varsity basketball at Chaminade Prep in St Louis for Coach Frank Bennett. In those years, the school went a combined 51-12 with two Class 5 (largest class) state semifinal appearances and a state title in 2016. As a junior, Davis averaged 19 points and six rebounds per game and was a first-team all-state selection by the Missouri Basketball Coaches Association. As a sophomore, he came off the bench for Chaminade, which went 27-5 en route to a state title. He was teammates with 2017 NBA first-round draft pick Jason Tatum and Iowa forward Tyler Cook.

BRADY HEIMAN

#45 BRADY HEIMAN

FRESHMAN | FORWARD | 6-11 | 215 | SPRINGFIELD, NEB.

2018-18 (Outlook)

Brady Heiman (pronounced hi-men) comes to Nebraska after a standout career at Platteview High School outside Omaha. When Heiman signed his Letter-of-Intent in November of 2017, he became the Huskers' first in-state high school recruit since 2001. Heiman brings an intriguing skill set to the Huskers, as the 6-foot-11 forward has excellent shooting touch out to 3-point range and has the instincts to eventually be an outstanding shot blocker and rebounder. Heiman has already added 15 pounds since arriving on campus in June, and his playing time will depend on adding strength to his frame.

Before Nebraska

Heiman concluded a record-setting career for Coach Tim Brotzki at Platteview High School. A four-year starter, he finished his career with 1,315 points along with school records for both rebounds (883) and blocked shots (523).

He was NU's first in-state high school signee since 2001 when he inked his National Letter of Intent prior to his senior year. He was a three-star selection by Rivals and tallied 41 double-doubles and seven triple-doubles during his prep career.

As a senior, Heiman led Platteview to a 24-3 record and a berth in the Class B state tournament, averaging 17.3 points on 56 percent shooting, 10.1 rebounds and 4.4 blocks per game. A first-team Super State honoree by the Lincoln Journal Star and an All-Nebraska selection by the Omaha World-Herald, he had three triple-doubles as a senior, including a 13-point, 14-rebound, 13-blocked shot performance against Omaha South.

As a junior, he was an honorable-mention all-state Class B pick by both the Omaha World-Herald and Lincoln Journal Star. He averaged 15.7 points on 55 percent shooting, 8.9 rebounds and 4.8 blocks per game, as Platteview went 21-5 and reached the state tournament for the second straight year. He had seven double-doubles as a junior, including a 17-point, 11-block performance.

Heiman burst on the scene as a sophomore, averaging 13.2 points, 10.2 rebounds and 7.7 blocks per game in helping Platteview post a 17-9 record and the school's first state tournament appearance since 2000. In the district final, he had 18 points, 11 rebounds and 13 blocked shots and had seven games with at least 10 blocked shots, including a school-record 15 in one contest.

He played his AAU basketball with the Omaha Sports Academy and Bob Franzese and chose Nebraska after receiving more than a dozen scholarship offers.

In addition to his basketball exploits, he was a four-year performer in track and field. Heiman placed third in the Class B state championship in the high jump as a senior after finishing sixth and eighth in the state meet the two previous years. Heiman also carried better than 3.7 GPA throughout high school.

Personal

Brady is the son of Tracy and Erica Heiman and was born on Sept. 26, 1999, in Omaha. He has one younger brother, Jake. Brady's father played collegiately at Chadron State and also won a national championship in the high jump at the school. Brady majors in finance at Nebraska.

HEAD COACH TIM MILES

TIM MILES

HEAD COACH · SEVENTH SEASON

The story of Tim Miles building programs goes back over two decades at three different levels of college basketball.

For Miles, the only active coach who has taken teams to the postseason at the Division I, Division II and NAIA ranks, his coaching journey began at Mayville State, an NAIA program which had won four games in two previous seasons. He guided the school to 17 and 18-win seasons in his two years at the school. At Southwest Minnesota State, he turned a program that had one winning season in a decade to the NCAA Division II Elite Eight in just four seasons. At North Dakota State, he took a Division II program to the Division I ranks and positioned the school to enjoy unprecedented success at the Division I level. At Colorado State, he built a program that made it to three straight postseason appearances and left the foundation for one of the most successful seasons in school history before he was named the 27th head coach in Nebraska's history on March 24, 2012.

Miles has continued his program-building ways at Nebraska, leading the school to its first NCAA Tournament appearance in 16 seasons in 2014. For his efforts, he won the Jim Phelan Award for national coach of the year, and was selected as the Big Ten Coach of the Year by his peers.

In 2017-18, Miles guided Nebraska to one of its most successful seasons in school history as NU reached postseason play for the first time in four seasons. The Huskers won 22 games, the most wins by a Husker team since the 1990-91 team won a school-record 26 games. Nebraska went 13-5 in the Big Ten, breaking a school mark for conference wins which had stood for more than five decades. James Palmer Jr. and Isaac Copeland Jr. both earned All-Big Ten honors, while Palmer also captured first-team all-district honors by the NABC and the USBWA. The Huskers closed the regular season with wins in 10 of their last 12 games, including road wins at Wisconsin and Minnesota for the first time since joining the Big Ten. At home, NU went 16-1 at Pinnacle Bank Arena, including a perfect 9-0 at home.

The 2016-17 Huskers faced one of the toughest schedules in school history, as the slate ranked 10th in the final RPI, the highest recorded ranking by NU in at least 15 seasons. Nebraska earned three victories over conference champions, highlighted by an 83-80 win over Big Ten regular-season champion Purdue, and won its first three conference games for the first time since the 1975-76 season. Tai Webster capped a stellar career by earning second-team All-Big Ten honors, ranking among the conference leaders in scoring, assists and steals. He became the fifth Husker to earn All-Big Ten accolades under Miles.

In 2015-16, Miles guided a youthful Husker squad to 16 wins against a schedule featuring 10 ranked opponents. More than 55 percent of the Huskers' offense in 2015-16 was by players in their first year of the program. The Huskers also won multiple games in the conference tournament for the first time in a decade, including a win over a Wisconsin team which eventually reached the NCAA Sweet 16.

The team was led by senior Shavon Shields, who garnered second-team All-Big Ten honors by the conference coaches to lead a pair of All-Big Ten picks. Shields also shined off the court, as he was named to the NABC Good Works Team and repeated as CoSIDA Academic All-American. For his efforts, he was named Nebraska's Big Ten Medal of Honor Winner and UNL's Male Student-Athlete of the Year, becoming the first Husker basketball player to ever receive both honors.

In 2014-15, the Huskers garnered their first national ranking since 1995 and enjoyed record-setting attendance numbers, establishing a school-record attendance of 15,569 fans per game to rank 10th nationally.

Individually, Terran Petteway earned All-Big Ten honors for the second straight year and was one of four Huskers to sign professional contracts in 2015. Miles' program also enjoyed a first in the classroom, as Shields became the first Husker basketball player to be named a first-team Academic All-American.

In 2013-14, the Huskers, who were picked to finish last in the Big Ten, became one of the big stories in college basketball, going 19-13 and reaching the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1998. The Huskers opened Big Ten play with a 1-5 record before orchestrating a turnaround which saw them win 10 of their final 12 Big Ten games to finish fourth with an 11-7 record. The stretch included a pair of wins over top 10 teams – a 60-51 win at No. 9 Michigan State which was the Huskers' first road win over a top-10 team since 1997 - and a 77-68 win over a Wisconsin team which reached the Final Four. Nebraska's 11 conference wins were the most by the Huskers since 1966. Nebraska finished second in the Big Ten in field goal percentage defense (.415) and third in scoring defense (64.3 ppg) during conference play.

Petteway became the first Husker to win a Big Ten scoring title, as he averaged 18.1 points per game en route to first-team All-Big Ten honors.

Miles' energetic personality has also spurred unprecedented fan interest in the Husker program. Nebraska is one of only nine programs in college basketball to average at least 15,000 fans per game in each of the last five seasons. NU has ranked in the top-15 nationally in attendance in each of the past five years, and were already sold out of 2018-19 season tickets by the time practice began in late September.

In his first season at Nebraska, Miles took a team that returned one starter and two of its top nine scorers, and improved the Huskers' win total from 12 to 15 despite facing a school-record 10 ranked teams. Nebraska posted wins over a trio of NCAA Tournament teams before capping the season with a win over Purdue in the Big Ten Tournament. Not a bad feat for a program that was a near unanimous choice for the league cellar by the league's pundits.

Before taking the Nebraska job, Miles spent five seasons building the Colorado State program into a contender in the Mountain West Conference. He increased his victory total in each of his five years at CSU, culminating in a 20-12 record and the school's first NCAA appearance in nine seasons during his final year in Fort Collins. After winning 16 games in his first two years at CSU, his teams went 55-41 over the last three years, reaching postseason play in each campaign.

The 2011-12 Rams posted the school's first 20-win season since the 1997-98 campaign while playing a schedule rated as the fourth-toughest in the country. Colorado State set a school record with three wins over ranked teams and placed three players on the All-Mountain West team. Miles was named the District VIII Coach of the Year by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association for his efforts. The Rams' 20-win season was only the seventh in the program's 108 seasons of competition despite playing a school-record eight ranked foes.

The Rams were one of four Mountain West teams to receive bids in the 2012 NCAA Tournament. CSU averaged 70.1 points per game on the season and topped the Mountain West Conference in field-goal percentage (47.1), 3-point percentage (40.0) and free throw percentage (76.8) and was one of two programs in the country to rank in the top 10 in both free throw percentage and 3-point percentage.

Three of Miles' players earned All-Mountain West honors, marking the program's most honorees in its half century affiliation with the WAC or Mountain West conferences. Wes Eikmeier earned first-team Mountain West honors after averaging 15.5 points per game, while Dorian Green and Pierce Hornung were both third-team honorees. Hornung also was named to the league's all-defensive team in 2011-12.

In 2010-11, Miles guided the program to a 19-13 record, a fourth-place finish in the Mountain West, and a berth in the NIT, reaching milestones at every step along the way. The 2010-11 campaign marked the Rams' first winning season since 2007, and the squad became the 10th in program history to record 19 or more victories in a single season.

The Rams' nine conference victories were the most for CSU since the formation of the Mountain West in 1999-2000, and CSU's fourth-place finish was the best since a fourth-place finish in the inaugural MW season. Miles and the Rams received votes in the top-25 national polls for the first time since 2005-06, and he became just the third coach in the program's 100-year plus history to take the Rams to back-to-back postseason appearances. The Rams also won the ESPN Cancun Governor's Cup, defeating Southern Miss in the title game. Andy Ogide became only the second Ram to earn first-team Mountain West honors as he averaged 17.2 points and 7.7 rebounds per game in 2010-11. He was also a first-team all-district honoree from the NABC.

Miles' third Colorado State team continued to make improvements, as the 2009-10 Rams won 16 games and reached postseason play for the first time since 2003 with a berth in the 2010 College Basketball Invitational (CBI). For his efforts, Miles was selected as the Mountain West Coach of the Year by CollegeInsider.com in 2010.

Tim Miles has guided four schools to postseason berths, including Nebraska's first NCAA Tournament appearance in 16 seasons during the 2013-14 season.

HEAD COACH TIM MILES

Tim Miles has been active in selling the basketball program, whether it is celebrating with students after a big win, interviewing his dad at the season-opening event, speaking at community events or welcoming back former players like Tyronn Lue for Legends Weekend. Coach Miles is also active on Twitter, where he is one of the most followed coaches in college basketball and provides fans a unique look into the Husker program. To follow Coach Miles on twitter, visit Twitter.com/CoachMiles.

During his first two years, Miles began to build the Colorado State program despite battling numerous injuries. In 2007-08, he led a roster that featured just one returning starter to early season success, including a tournament championship at the Top of the World Classic in Fairbanks, Alaska. And, after battling through a tough conference slate, the Rams ended the season on a high note with a victory over rival Wyoming in the opening round of the Mountain West tournament.

His second season in Fort Collins proved to be just as fruitful as the Rams continued to make strides. Miles led the Rams to early season victories over Montana and Northern Colorado, both of which had beaten the Rams the previous year, and lost a one-point game against Minnesota. In addition, the Rams boosted their win column with four conference wins against UNLV, Air Force (twice) and TCU.

While establishing a tradition of winning in college basketball, Miles' philosophy extends far beyond the basketball court. He and his staff are committed to academics and the success of their student-athletes in the classroom.

At Nebraska, he has had 17 Academic All-Big Ten honorees, including a conference-best five honorees in 2015. The list includes Shavon Shields, who is the only first first-team Academic All-America basketball player in Husker history.

At Colorado State, he donated back to the school and the community by capping the J.J. Williams scholarship endowment in 2011 and establishing the Ram Basketball Legacy scholarship endowment, while making a contribution to School is Cool, a CSU driven program to support Poudre School District.

With 23 years of experience as a head coach at four institutions, he has compiled a career record of 380-317 that includes three conference championships and eight postseason tournament appearances.

Before taking over the Colorado State program, Miles spent six seasons at North Dakota State, guiding the Bison through the transition to the Division I ranks. He won at least 16 games in each of his final five seasons at the school, including the program's first three years at the Division I level. Miles' tenure at NDSU was highlighted by a pair of road wins over top-15 squads in his final two seasons.

In 2005-06, the Bison, who started three redshirt freshmen, snapped Wisconsin's 27-game win streak against non-conference foes with a 62-55 win over the 13th ranked Badgers, marking one of only 10 non-conference home losses in Bo Ryan's 15 seasons at Wisconsin.

He was the recruiting coordinator for NSU and was responsible for bringing in and coaching five All-Americans at that school. Northern State reached the NAIA National Championship game in both 1993 and 1994.

One of the most respected teachers in college basketball, Jim Molinari is in his fifth season as an assistant coach at Nebraska. Molinari has more than three decades of Division I coaching experience, including 20 years as a Division I head coach.

Molinari is a three-time conference coach of the year during his career, while he has guided nine teams to postseason play and has over 300 wins as a college head coach. In addition, he has been a member of 10 NCAA Tournament staffs during his 15 seasons as a Division I assistant coach. At Nebraska, he works with the post players and assists in opponent scouting and game-planning. Molinari played a key role in the development of All-Big Ten performer Isaac Copeland as well as Isaiah Roby in 2017-18.

Before joining the Nebraska staff in April of 2014, Molinari spent six seasons as head coach at Western Illinois, leading the Leathernecks to their first-ever postseason appearance at the Division I level. In 2012-13, he guided WIU to a 22-9 record and a share of the Summit League regular-season title with a 13-3 mark. The 22 wins were the program's highest total since moving to Division I while he was named the Summit League Coach of the Year and the NABC District 12 Coach of the Year. He was also a finalist for the Hugh Durham Award (CollegeInsider.com Mid-Major Coach of the Year). WIU led the nation in fewest fouls committed and was second in scoring defense at 52.6 points per game, while ranking in the top 75 in six categories. Molinari coached Terell Parks who was tabbed second-team NABC all-district and also named first-team All-Summit League and the Summit League Defensive Player of the Year in 2012-13.

In 2011-12, WIU broke through with an 18-15 record and an appearance in the College Basketball Invitational, the program's first-ever postseason appearance at the Division I level. The Leathernecks reached the Summit League title game for the first time since 1997, while the 18 wins were the most since 1996-97. Ceola Clark led the team earning Summit League Defensive Player of the Year for the second straight season, becoming the first player in conference history to be a two-time winner of the award. Clark was also a three-time All-Summit League performer, including a two-time first-team winner.

In 2007-08, Molinari served as an assistant coach at Ball State, following a three-year stint at Minnesota in which he was the interim head coach for most of the 2006-07 season. In his first season as an assistant at Minnesota, his defensive emphasis helped the Gophers rank third in Big Ten scoring defense (62.7 points per game). They led the league in field goal percentage defense (.424) and three-point field goal percentage defense (.274) in conference play, and allowed 62.9 points per league game, the fewest since the 1981-82 season. In 2005, Street & Smith's named Molinari the "best assistant in the Big Ten Conference."

For 11 seasons, from 1991-2002, Molinari was the head coach at Bradley University, where he amassed a 174-152 (.534) record and guided the Braves to the postseason six times - five National Invitation Tournament appearances and the 1996 NCAA Tournament. He led Bradley to a trio of 20-win seasons, including a 22-8 record in 1995-96 when he was chosen as Missouri Valley Conference Coach of the Year. He left Bradley with more league wins than any other active coach in the Missouri Valley.

From 1989-91, he was the head coach at Northern Illinois, where he posted a record of 42-17 (.712). The Huskies won the 1991 Mid-Continent Conference title, going 25-6 and setting a school record for wins. At NIU, Molinari inherited a program that had not won as many as 17 games in a season since 1981, but made a quick turnaround with a 17-win season followed by a 25-win campaign in just his second year at the school.

At DePaul from 1979-89, Molinari helped both Ray and Joey Meyer lead the Blue Demons to national prominence. Over 10 seasons at DePaul, Molinari helped recruit college and professional stars such as Mark Aguirre, Dallas Comegys, Tyrone Corbin, Terry Cummings and Rod Strickland -- players who led DePaul to nine NCAA Tournaments and a runner-up finish in the NIT.

In addition to his collegiate coaching experience, Molinari is a veteran of national selection committees for international competition. He led the 1997 USA Basketball men's team to a gold medal at the World University Games played in Trapani, Italy. For two years in-between collegiate coaching positions, Molinari was an NBA scout for the Toronto Raptors (2002-03) and Miami Heat (2003-04).

DENNIS LEBLANC

EXECUTIVE ASSOCIATE A.D./ACADEMICS

Dennis Leblanc was named Nebraska's Executive Associate AD for Academics in 2015, after being promoted from Senior Associate Athletic Director for Academic Programs and Student Services. He has directed the academic program since 1993. Over the past decade, Nebraska's academic support program for student-athletes has received outstanding reviews from the NCAA Certification Review Team and the Nebraska Faculty Intercollegiate Athletics Committee. In 2012, Nebraska's program became one of only 21 programs nationally to be certified by the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletes (N4A) for meeting the established standards of service for student-athletes as outlined by the N4A.

HANK M. BOUNDS, PH.D.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA PRESIDENT

SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI
1991

On January 12, 2015, the Board of Regents appointed lifelong educator Hank M. Bounds, Ph.D., as the seventh president of the University of Nebraska (NU). Bounds began his tenure on April 13, 2015, bringing a demonstrated record of expanding opportunities for students, improving higher education outcomes and efficiencies, and building successful partnerships with policymakers, donors and business leaders.

He has continued working to improve educational outcomes and build partnerships since his arrival in Nebraska. Bounds has connected with leaders within the university, in the private sector, in government and in the military to increase collaboration and innovation. In late 2015, he worked with the University of Nebraska Foundation to launch a two-year, $200 million fundraising initiative to increase access and create success for current and future students. In 2015, Bounds also launched a university-wide Food for Health initiative—the first of several programs designed to increase collaborations across NU and incentivize new research that addresses critical issues important to Nebraskans and result in greater research funding opportunities. Supporting quality teaching is an important focus for Bounds, and in the spring of 2016, he made a $3.5 million strategic investment to hire additional faculty and expand NU's online course offerings. And, Bounds announced in late 2015 that NU's enrollment had grown to its highest level in 22 years — marking progress toward the Board of Regents' goals to expand educational access to Nebraskans and attract more talent to the state to meet workforce needs.

Bounds grew up in Mississippi. His service in the Army National Guard helped him pay for college, and he earned bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Southern Mississippi and a doctorate from the University of Mississippi.

Bounds has devoted his 25-year career to helping change students' lives in the same way education opened doors in his own life. He began as a high school teacher, then rose to principal, superintendent and state superintendent before becoming Mississippi's commissioner of higher education in 2009. In that role, he oversaw a complex system of eight public universities. Today, under his leadership, the University of Nebraska enrolls nearly 52,000 students, employs over 13,000 faculty and staff, and operates with an annual budget of $2.5 billion - including $235 million in research expenditures.

He has identified four cornerstones that will separate NU from the rest of higher education and define a new era in university history: 1) The University of Nebraska will be the best university in the nation to be a student. 2) The University of Nebraska will transform lives through research and innovation. 3) The University of Nebraska will work hand in hand with our partners to achieve our goals. 4) The University of Nebraska will win with people.

Bounds holds a faculty appointment in the College of Education and Human Sciences at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and courtesy faculty appointments in the Colleges of Education at the University of Nebraska at Omaha and the University of Nebraska at Kearney. He serves on the board of directors for several organizations, including the National Association of System Heads (NASH), the Robert B. Daugherty Water for Food Institute, the Nebraska Innovation Campus Development Corporation, the Nebraska Advanced Manufacturing Coalition and the Consultation Committee for US Strategic Command (USSTRATCOM). He is also on the Board of Governors for the Knights of AKSARBEN.

Bounds and his wife, Susie, are the parents of a son, Will, and a daughter, Caroline. They reside in Lincoln.

The Board of Regents consists of eight voting members elected by district for six-year terms, and four non-voting student Regents, one from each campus, who serve during their tenure as student body president. The board supervises the general operations of the university, and the control and direction of all expenditures. The board also includes a corporation secretary who manages all records including agendas, minutes, notices, policies and bylaws. Those documents can be found on the web at nebraska.edu/board/.

The board meets regularly, primarily in Lincoln but also in Omaha and greater Nebraska. Persons wishing to provide information to the board or to appear before it should contact: Corporation Secretary, University of Nebraska, Varner Hall, 3835 Holdrege, Lincoln, NE 68583.

BILL MOOS

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR
SECOND YEAR

WASHINGTON STATE
1973

Honor the past. Live the present. Create the future.

Nine simple words that carry impressive significance and undeniable responsibility. Words that Nebraska's athletic director uses to lead his programs and set the tone for building champions in competition and in life.

William H. (Bill) Moos was named Nebraska's Athletic Director on Oct. 15, 2017, and fully assumed those responsibilities on Oct. 23, 2017.

Moos, who became the 15th athletic director in the history of the storied Cornhusker program, brings nearly 25 years of experience as an athletic director at three Division I schools (Washington State, Oregon, Montana) with him to Nebraska. More importantly, he brings an impressive track record of success in building outstanding programs, developing long-term relationships, and for doing what is best for his schools, its fans and most importantly, its student-athletes.

"When you name the top three, four, five athletic programs in the great positions as an athletic director, Nebraska is in that same breath," Moos said at his introductory press conference at Memorial Stadium. "I want you to know that my motto has always been, in the 25 years I have been a Division I athletic director and it will be here too is very simple - honor the past, live the present, create the future."

In his first six months at Nebraska, Moos made three coaching hires. He drew universal praise for hiring Scott Frost, the 2017 consensus national coach of the year, as Nebraska's head football coach in December. Following the spring semester, Moos also hired Mark Hankins to coach the men's golf team and Sean Maymi to lead the men's tennis program.

He also oversaw several team successes in his first six months in Lincoln. Moos watched the volleyball team win its fifth national title and second in three seasons in December. In 2018, both the men's and women's gymnastics teams finished in the top six at the NCAA Championships, while bowling finished third and rifle finished eighth. Nebraska also continued its excellence in the classroom, producing four CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, including three first-team selections. The awards increased Nebraska's nation-leading total to 333 all-time CoSIDA Academic All-Americans across all sports.

Moos came to Lincoln after spending seven-plus years at Washington State (2010-17). He previously served 12 highly successful seasons as the athletic director at Oregon (1995-2007). During his time at his alma mater, Moos wasted little time in making his impact felt in Cougar Athletics, spearheading a department-wide rebranding effort with Nike while securing a 10-year, $35 million marketing rights agreement with IMG College. In addition, the 2004 WSU Alumni Achievement Award winner gained Regents approval for a $130 million addition and remodel of Martin Stadium, featuring a remodeled press box with luxury seating, including suites, loge boxes and club room.

Nebraska Athletic Director Bill Moos has nearly a quarter of a century of experience as an athletic director, including stints at Oregon and Washington State.

*Interim Co-Directors

Also included in the project was a state-of-the-art video board and an 80,000-square-foot football operations building that served as the stadium's showpiece and opened in May 2014. As the dean of Pac-12 athletic directors, Moos was at the forefront of the conference's procurement of a 12-year, $3 billion television contract with FOX and ESPN, a landmark agreement in college athletics. Under Moos' direction, the Cougar Athletic Fund's Annual Giving program saw an 81 percent increase in gifts while CAF donor members rose from nearly 4,000 to more than 7,500.

Additional facility enhancements under Moos included a center-hung video board in Beasley Coliseum that was installed prior to the 2011-12 season, giving Cougar basketball one of the premier fan experiences in the conference. An indoor golf hitting facility was also completed in early 2013, and Lower Soccer Field underwent a major renovation making the venue TV-ready while also providing one of the best playing surfaces on the West Coast, along with the addition of lights and a new scoreboard.

Other enhancements were made to the Moobery track facility, Bailey-Brayton Field, the basketball practice gym, Gibb Pool and the Simmelink Indoor tennis courts. In Moos' seven years at WSU, Cougar student-athletes and coaches accounted for 805 academic all-conference selections, 130 all-conference accolades, 45 All-America honors and three Pac-12 Coach-of-the-Year honors.

Moos served as Oregon's director of athletics from July of 1995 to 2007. While at Oregon he oversaw a 17-sport athletic department that grew to national prominence during his tenure.Oregon's annual athletic department budget grew from $18.5 million in his first year to more than $40 million by 2007, becoming 100 percent self-sufficient during that time. Under his direction the Duck Athletic Fund donor base increased from 4,930 to 12,290, resulting in an annual gifts increase from $4.1 million to $15.3 million.

Moos initiated more than $160 million in facility improvements while at Oregon. Included in that was the $90 million Autzen Stadium renovation in 2002, which added 12,000 new seats, 32 new suites, a new Club at Autzen and a new press box to the stadium. In his 12 years, the Ducks ranked first in Pac-10 football attendance 11 times, reaching 100 percent capacity in each of those seasons.

During Moos' tenure, Oregon athletics captured 13 Pac-10 championships across six different sports. He increased opportunities for women by adding two intercollegiate programs, soccer and lacrosse, and negotiated an all-inclusive shoe and apparel contract with Nike, one of only 14 in the country at the time. From an academic standpoint during Moos' tenure, Oregon student-athletes collected 722 academic all-conference selections, 34 Academic All-America selections, nine NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship recipients and one NCAA Top Ten Award.

During his first stint as a collegiate athletic director at Montana (1990-95), Moos created an academic support program and hired its first athletic academic coordinator, developed a facility enhancement plan that created more than $4 million in improvements, and lifted the school's fund-raising efforts to show a 300 percent increase in private and corporate gifts. Academically, Montana student-athletes were equally successful as the athletic department achieved a graduation rate 20 percent higher than the general university enrollment. Under Moos' watch Montana garnered 269 academic all-conference selections, five Academic All-Americans and two NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship recipients.

Moos began his athletic career as an athletic administrator in 1982 as assistant athletic director at Washington State. He also served as the school's associate athletic director (1988-90). At Washington State, he was director of development for more than five years and associate director for nearly two years, supervising all external operations. Prior to that, he managed and owned private businesses in Washington and Oregon for eight years. He was a student assistant football coach at Washington State for the 1973 season, then spent part of 1974 in Washington, D.C., serving as a government intern.

Raised on a wheat and cattle ranch in eastern Washington, Moos attended high school in Olympia when his father served in the governor's cabinet. Moos earned his bachelor's degree in history from WSU and was a three-year letterman in football before concluding his collegiate career by representing Washington State in the 1972 East-West Shrine All-Star Game in San Francisco.

He served as co-captain on the Cougars' 1972 squad and garnered first-team All-Pac-8 Conference honors. Moos and his wife Kendra have three daughters, Christa, Brittany and Kaiti; and two sons, Bo and Benjamin.

MARC BOEHM

EXECUTIVE ASSOCIATE ATHLETIC DIRECTOR
13TH YEAR

KANSAS STATE
1984

A member of Nebraska's administration since May 2003, Marc Boehm (pronounced BAME) serves as Executive Associate Athletic Director for External Operations. Boehm serves as the sport supervisor for the Nebraska men's basketball program. He also serves as the liaison to Pinnacle Bank Arena, the NU Foundation, the Nebraska Alumni Association and IMG.

He oversees all external areas of the department, including development, ticketing, communications, emerging media, marketing and HuskerVision.

Boehm played a lead role during the men's and women's basketball programs move into Pinnacle Bank Arena in 2013-14. He also worked to help develop Nebraska's new practice facility - the Hendricks Training Complex - which opened in October of 2011.

Boehm has worked to create a fan-friendly atmosphere at men's and women's basketball, leading to record-setting attendances and season ticket sales for both programs.

In 2013-14, the men's basketball program sold out its season tickets for the entire year in May of 2013 in anticipation of the first season at Pinnacle Bank Arena. The more than 15,000 Husker fans that packed the new arena watched the Big Red roll to a 15-1 home record on their way to the 2014 NCAA Tournament.

NU ranked 11th nationally in average home attendance (15,492) in 2017-18, while the Huskers won 22 games and advanced to the postseason for the sixth time under Boehm's watch. The Huskers went 13-5 in the always powerful Big Ten Conference.

Boehm was also the sport supervisor for women's basketball during the most successful stretch in school history. The Husker women earned seven NCAA Tournament bids, including a pair of NCAA Sweet 16 appearances in 2010 and 2013. The Huskers have produced the four highest single-season win totals in NU history over the past seven years. The Big Red have finished the season ranked in the top 25 in four of the past seven seasons - the first four top-25 final national rankings in school history.

In 2013-14, Nebraska won its first-ever women's basketball conference tournament title, claiming the Big Ten crown with a 3-0 run in Indianapolis.

In 2017-18, the Huskers produced the nation's largest turnaround in the win column. Nebraska's 14-win improvement allowed the Big Red to finish with a 21-11 overall record that included a tie for third with an 11-5 mark in the Big Ten Conference. The Huskers advanced to the Big Ten Tournament semifinals before competing in the 2018 NCAA Tournament under Big Ten Coach-of-the-Year Amy Williams.

The Nebraska women's basketball program also ranked among the top 25 nationally in average home attendance for nine consecutive seasons.

Boehm also played a lead role in bringing NCAA Tournament basketball to Lincoln for the first time since 1993, as the Husker women played host to the NCAA Lincoln Regional. Eventual national champion UConn, Texas A&M, DePaul and BYU battled for a spot in the 2014 NCAA Women's Final Four. The two sessions attracted well over 17,000 fans.

Boehm, who played a significant role in aiding Nebraska's functional transition to the Big Ten Conference in 2011-12, was also instrumental in conceptualizing and developing the Husker Nation Pavilion, which is the premier pregame event around home football games.

Boehm also took the lead role in obtaining First National Bank and Ameritas as premier sponsors for the Nebraska Athletic Department for a combined deal worth more than $7 million over a three-year period. First National Bank and Ameritas joined Verizon, Pepsi and adidas as premier corporate sponsors for Husker athletics.

Boehm held the same position at Pittsburgh from 1997 to 2003. Boehm assisted in the rise of the Panthers' basketball program with the men's team posting back-to-back Sweet 16 appearances in the NCAA Tournament. During construction of the Panthers' new athletic facilities, Boehm played a central role in Pitt's athletic teams moving to the UPMC Sports Performance Complex, Heinz Field and the Petersen Events Center.

Boehm served as interim athletic director at Pittsburgh for nearly five months before coming to NU. During that time, he hired men's basketball head coach Jamie Dixon.

Boehm also spent five years as associate executive director of the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. He directed and managed a 125-member fund-raising committee of Arizona business people responsible for generating more than $4.5 million in cash and in-kind partnerships. Previously he spent four years as associate executive director and public relations director of the Sun Bowl from 1987 to 1991.

Known as one of intercollegiate sports' most successful undertakings, the Big Ten is home to a lineage of legendary names and an ongoing tradition of developing strong leaders. Even in its infancy, the conference established itself as the preeminent collection of institutions in the nation, where the pursuit of academic excellence prevailed as the definitive goal.

The history of the Big Ten traces back more than 120 years to the Palmer House hotel in Chicago, where on January 11, 1895, then-Purdue president James H. Smart and leaders from the University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University and University of Wisconsin set out to organize and develop principles for the regulation of intercollegiate athletics.

At that meeting, a blueprint for the administration of college athletics under the direction of appointed faculty representatives was outlined. The presidents' first known action "restricted eligibility for athletics to bonafide, full-time students who were not delinquent in their studies." That important legislation, along with other legislation that would follow in the coming years, served as the primary building block for intercollegiate athletics.

On February 8, 1896, one faculty member from each of those seven universities met at the same Palmer House and officially established the mechanics of the conference, which was officially incorporated as the "Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association" in 1905.

Indiana University and the State University of Iowa became the eighth and ninth members in 1899. In 1908, Michigan briefly withdrew its membership, and in 1912 Ohio State University joined the conference, bringing its membership total back to nine. Upon Michigan's return in 1917, the conference was first referred to as the "Big Ten" by media members, and that name was eventually incorporated in 1987.

As the 1900s opened, faculty representatives established rules for intercollegiate athletics that were novel for the time. As early as 1904, the faculty approved legislation that required eligible athletes to meet entrance requirements and to have completed a full year's work, along with having one year of residence.

In 1901, the first Big Ten Championship event was staged when the outdoor track and field championships were held at the University of Chicago. The debut event marked what is now a staple of conference competition. Today, the Big Ten sponsors 28 official sports, 14 for men and 14 for women, including the addition of men's ice hockey and men's and women's lacrosse over the last four years. Big Ten schools compete in a total of 42 different sports, furthering the conference's commitment to broad-based programming and providing more participation opportunities than any conference in the country.

One of the conference's proudest traditions began in 1902 when Michigan took on Stanford in the Rose Bowl, the nation's first bowl game. Big Ten teams only appeared in Pasadena twice before the conference signed an exclusive contract with the Tournament of Roses in 1946, making it the first bowl game with permanent conference affiliations. But Michigan's appearance in 1902 cultivated a relationship that has endured for more than a century. In January 2014, Michigan State defeated Stanford in the 100th Rose Bowl Game.

Coupling the academic goals set forth by the leaders of the charter members of the conference and their steadfast commitment to athletics, the conference instituted the Big Ten Medal of Honor in 1915. It is awarded annually by each conference institution to a student of the graduating class who has attained the greatest proficiency in scholarship and athletics. For more than 100 years, it has been the most prestigious honor a student competing in Big Ten athletics can receive.

In 1922, Major John L. Griffith became the conference's first "Commissioner of Athletics." Griffith was the first of five men to assume the role of commissioner in the conference's history, followed by Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson in 1945, Bill Reed in 1961, Wayne Duke in 1971 and current commissioner James E. Delany in 1989.

After nearly 30 years with 10 members, the conference consolidated to nine schools when the University of Chicago formally withdrew its membership in 1946. Michigan State College (now Michigan State University) was added to the Big Ten three years later, bringing the number of affiliated conference schools to 10 once again.

In 1955, the Big Ten formulated a revenue-sharing model designed to pool all football television rights of its members and share those proceeds equally. The conference and its members continue to utilize a revenue-sharing model, dividing media rights, bowl payouts and other profits among all conference institutions.

While academics have always played an integral role in the conference, presidents of the Big Ten member institutions formalized the primacy of academics with the establishment of the Big Ten Academic Alliance (formerly the Committee on Institutional Cooperation) in 1958. The Big Ten Academic Alliance is an academic consortium of all Big Ten universities. Annually, the schools currently constituting the Big Ten Academic Alliance produced over $10 billion in funded research, $5 billion more than any other conference.

In one of Duke's first actions as commissioner, he oversaw the adoption of the Big Ten Advisory Commission in 1972, designed to study conference programs and make suggestions which would further Big Ten objectives. The Advisory Commission enlists former students that competed in Big Ten athletics to serve as liaisons to the NCAA's Diversity and Inclusion Department, the Big Ten Student-Athlete Advisory Commission and other organizations.

In 1981, the conference presidents and chancellors endorsed a proposal that enabled universities to affiliate their women's intercollegiate programs with the conference, and the first conference championships for women were staged that fall. The Big Ten was the first conference to voluntarily adopt male and female participation goals after launching its Gender Equity Action Plan in 1992.

In December of 1989, the conference agreed in principle to invite Pennsylvania State University for membership. On June 4, 1990, the Council of Presidents officially voted to integrate Penn State into the conference, giving the Big Ten 11 members.

In 2004, the Big Ten implemented a pilot program of instant replay for college football. Following the season, the conference forwarded replay proposals to the NCAA regarding the future use of instant replay, where it approved country-wide testing in 2005. In 2006, the NCAA approved the use of instant replay for all conferences.

In 2006, Delany announced the creation of the first conference-owned television network, a 20-year agreement with FOX Networks to create what would become the Big Ten Network (BTN). Launched on Aug. 30, 2007, BTN now produces more than 1,500 events across all platforms each year. BTN is in more than 60 million homes in the U.S. and Canada via the nation's major cable, satellite and telco providers and more than 300 additional cable operators across the country. BTN2Go is the digital extension of BTN, delivering live and on-demand programming to computers, smartphones and tablets and also is accessible outside the U.S., Canada and the Caribbean via BTN2Go International.

On June 11, 2010, the Big Ten Council of Presidents/Chancellors (COP/C) approved a formal membership application by the University of Nebraska, expanding the conference to 12 institutions. Nebraska officially joined the Big Ten on July 1, 2011.

The conference expanded its footprint further in 2012 when the COP/C approved formal membership applications from the University of Maryland and Rutgers University on November 19 and 20, respectively. Maryland and Rutgers became official Big Ten members on July 1, 2014, giving the conference almost 9,500 students participating in intercollegiate athletics and more than 11,000 participation opportunities on 350 teams.

Since opening in the fall of 2013, the Big Ten conference center hosts more than 300 meetings annually for member institutions, Big Ten Academic Alliance (formerly CIC) related committees and coaches' groups. The headquarters also features an interactive digital museum - the Big Ten Experience – which brings the conference's storied academic and athletic history to life. For more information on the Big Ten Experience, go to bigten.org.

In June 2014, the Big Ten opened a second office in New York City, featuring both office and meeting space in Midtown Manhattan. Big Ten staff members are based in the New York City office to provide expanded coverage and service, while other conference and institutional administrators utilize the space as necessary when conducting business on the East Coast. The Big Ten and its member institutions also have access to satellite office space in Washington, D.C.

Delany and his staff work to meet the educational needs of students competing in intercollegiate athletics to allow them to excel in all areas of their lives. The conference office manages 28 different championships and tournaments, offers legislative and compliance services, oversees the production and distribution of more than 1,400 events annually, provides staff services to coaching and administrative personnel and services media and fans interest for information on the Big Ten.

More than 120 years after its inception, the Big Ten remains a national leader in intercollegiate athletics on and off the field. Big Ten programs have combined to win more than 450 team and 1,800 individual national championships, consistently taking home individual honors for athletic and academic accomplishments and fulfilling the Big Ten's mission of academic achievement and athletic success.

2017-18 SEASON REVIEW

2017-18 BY THE NUMBERS

.297/.425 - Nebraska's 3-point percentage defense in Big Ten play in 2017-18, which led the conference compared to 2016-17, which ranked 14th in the same category.

1.23 - Nebraska's 1.23-to-1 assist-to-turnover ratio finished as the eighth-best ratio in school history and the highest since the 2001-02 campaign.

2 - Number of opponents who shot over 50 percent against Nebraska during the 2017-18 season (UCF and Long Beach State).

4 - Isaiah Roby became just the fourth player in school history to record 50 blocks and 50 assists in a season and the first since Aleks Maric in 2007-08.

11.1 - Turnovers per game for Nebraska, which ranked 27th nationally. The Huskers finished the season with 10 or fewer turnovers in six of its final eight games, including a season-low five at Mississippi State.

15 - Nebraska went 9-1 when recording 15 or more assists in a game. The only loss was a Dec. 9 loss at Creighton.

16 - Nebraska's number of home wins which fell one shy of the school record for most home wins in a season. Nebraska went a perfect 9-0 in conference play, marking the Huskers' first unbeaten home conference mark since 1965-66.

20 - Margin of victory over NCAA runner-up Michigan on Jan. 18, Nebraska's largest over a ranked team since a 28-point win over No. 25 Texas Tech on Feb. 24, 2004.

70 - Nebraska was 16-2 when scoring 70 or more points and 6-9 when held to under 70 points. Nebraska's only two losses when scoring 70+ points was a one-point loss to Kansas and a two-point OT loss at Penn State.

104 - Nebraska's point total against UTSA on Dec. 20, its highest since scoring 107 against North Carolina A&T on Dec. 19, 2005. NU is now 36-4 all-time when scoring 100 or more points.

568 - James Palmer Jr. finished in eighth place on Nebraska's top-10 scoring list with 568 points. It marks the fourth time in the last five years that a Husker has scored at least 550 points in a season.

232 - Nebraska's 3-pointers in 2017-18, a total which ranked third on the Huskers' single-season list and was NU's highest total in 11 years.

15,805 - Nebraska's average attendance for its nine Big Ten games. The mark was the Huskers' highest conference attendance in school history.

1995-96 - The last time Nebraska scored 90+ points twice in conference play before 2017-18.

The 2017-18 season was a historic one for the Husker basketball program. Under sixth-year Head Coach Tim Miles, Nebraska enjoyed one of the most improved seasons in school history and returned to postseason play for the first time in four years.

The Huskers finished the year with a 22-11 record and tied for fourth in the Big Ten with a 13-5 record, setting a school record for most conference wins in school history. It was a far cry from the 13th-place finish the Huskers were tabbed with by the conference media prior to the season. The 10-win improvement was the largest by a Husker team since 1991 while the 13 Big Ten wins shattered a mark which had been in place for more than five decades. Nebraska's 22 wins was the most since a school-record 26 wins in 1990-91 and included wins over NCAA runner-up Michigan, as well the champions of both the NIT (Penn State) and CBI (North Texas).

The improvement was sparked by a pair of newcomers in James Palmer Jr. and Isaac Copeland, who helped Nebraska enjoy its highest victory total in more than two decades and close Big Ten play by winning eight of its last nine games.

Palmer garnered first-team All-Big Ten honors by the conference coaches, averaging 17.2 points, 4.4 rebounds and 3.0 assists per game. He was fifth in the conference in scoring, including third in Big Ten action, and was in double figures in 31 of 33 contests. Palmer proved to have a flair for the dramatic, including a game-winning 3-pointer with 0.3 points left in a one-point win over Illinois and scoring 24 of his 26 points in the second half of Nebraska's four-point win over Maryland which gave the Huskers their 20th victory.

James Palmer Jr. beats the buzzer on his game-winning 3-pointer against Illinois, as the Huskers went a perfect 9-0 in Big Ten play at home in 2017-18

Copeland gave the Huskers an inside-outside threat, as he was second on the team in scoring (12.9 ppg), rebounding (6.1 rpg) and blocked shots (1.0 bpg) and ranked among the Big Ten leaders in all three areas. The 6-foot-9 junior had five 20-point performances, including a season-high 30 points on 12-of-14 shooting against North Dakota, and closed the regular season by reaching double figures in eight of NU's final nine regular-season contests.

While the two newcomers provided a shot in the arm for the NU attack, co-captains Evan Taylor and Anton Gill provided stability and leadership for a team which returned just two players who averaged at least 6.0 ppg from the previous year.

Taylor, one of two returning starters, played in all 33 games and averaged 6.4 points, 3.4 rebounds and 2.2 assists per game. Taylor was also the Huskers' top perimeter defender, and regularly hounded the opposition's top scorer. Gill, who missed all of Big Ten play in 2016-17 because of a knee injury, was fifth on the team in scoring at 8.1 points per game and led the Huskers with 54 3-pointers in his only full season as a Husker.

The influence of Taylor and Gill was worth far more than the numbers they produced, as both players' leadership in the locker room was vital.

"Those two kind of became the voice of our team, our voice of reason,'' Miles said. "It's like, 'We've been other places. This is what a program looks like. Let's get this right, we've got the talent, let's go forward.'"

The Huskers went forward, especially during the second half of the season. After going with a smaller starting lineup which included Isaiah Roby and Anton Gill, the Husker attack flourished. Palmer's game winner against the Illini began a stretch where the Huskers won 10 of 12 conference games, including a 20-point win over the Wolverines and completing season sweeps with NU's first-ever Big Ten wins in both Minneapolis and Madison.

Miles was thrilled that the seniors, a group which also included graduate transfer Duby Okeke and walk-on Malcolm Laws, could go out with a win, as NU closed the regular-season with a 13-point win over Penn State to cap a perfect 9-0 home Big Ten mark, as Nebraska extracted revenge from a heart-breaking overtime loss in State College earlier in the year.

"I am happy that our Senior Night turned out well for our seniors," Miles said. "It is an eclectic group of young guys that have been great to coach, have stuck with us through thick and thin."

Glynn Watson Jr. had 29 points, nine rebounds and three steals in NU's win over No. 14 Minnesota.

Glynn Watson Jr. was the other returning starter, and the junior from Bellwood, Ill., was one of the Huskers leaders in 2017-18. He was third on the team in scoring at 10.5 points per game while pacing the Huskers in both assists (3.2 apg) and steals (1.4 spg). Watson had four 20-point games, including a season-high 29 points and a career-high nine rebounds in a win over No. 14 Minnesota.

He went over 1,000 career points with a pair of game-clinching free throws against Maryland, becoming the 29th Husker to reach that plateau.

While Watson was one of the proven scorers, the development of Roby down the stretch really helped the Huskers make strides in the Big Ten. Roby, who moved into the starting lineup midway through the season, led NU in both rebounding (6.3 rpg) and blocked shots (2.0 bpg) while averaging 8.7 points per game on 57 percent shooting. Roby finished the year with eight straight double-figure performances, including three consecutive double-doubles in Big Ten play.

Nebraska relied on a rotation which included Okeke, who ranked among the Big Ten leaders with 1.0 block per game, Jordy Tshimanga (4.0 ppg, 4.6 rpg) and freshman Thomas Allen (3.2 ppg). Allen showed glimpses of his potential in NU's lone home loss, scoring a season-high 13 points in NU's 73-72 loss to a Jayhawk team which eventually reached the final four.

Career Recap

Malcolm Laws spent three seasons in the Husker program after transferring from Florida Atlantic. The 6-foot-1 guard appeared in 20 games during Husker career after walking on to the Husker program, totaling five points and three rebounds. Laws was a vital member of the Husker scout team, preparing the top units for games. As a senior, he played in a career-high nine games and scored his only basket of the season in a win over No. 23 Michigan on Jan. 18, as Nebraska won 22 games and reached postseason play for the first time in four years. Laws' influence off the court was evident in the team coming together in the Hate Will Never Win movement, as well as the role he played on the Husker Ben Mob. He was named to the Tom Osborne Citizenship Team in 2018 and was a member of the Nebraska Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll in 2017. Laws graduated in May of 2018 with a degree in communication studies.

Opened on Aug. 29, 2013, Pinnacle Bank Arena is the home of the Nebraska men's and women's basketball programs. Located in the Haymarket District in downtown Lincoln, Pinnacle Bank Arena has a basketball capacity of 15,000 and is quickly becoming one of the premier concert destinations in the Midwest. Since its opening, it has hosted concerts ranging from Jay-Z, Paul McCartney, Jason Aldean, Katy Perry, The Eagles and Michael Bublé.

Pinnacle Bank Arena opened to rave reviews during its first year of operation. It was a nominee for best New Major Concert Venue by Pollstar Magazine, one of five facilities in the world chosen for the honor. In April of 2014, the facility was chosen as the Best Arena in College Basketball by Athletic Business, a magazine source for athletic, fitness and recreation professionals.

The 470,400-square feet arena was created with basketball in mind. The facility features a split upper concourse, allowing fans to be closer to the floor than in a typical arena. Pinnacle Bank Arena also features expansive premium seating with 36 suites, 20 loge boxes and over 800 club seats in addition to courtside seating. Other arena amenities include free wi-fi, a Panasonic video board which is 16 1/2 feet tall and 22 feet wide, as well as an upper video board which is six feet tall and 22 feet wide, and retractable seating to allow an intimate environment on game days as well as over 160 concession points of sale. The arena also features an expansive student section with 1,000 seats on the 100 Level, including behind both team benches.

The $179-million dollar arena is easily accessible in downtown Lincoln as nearly 5,100 parking stalls are within walking distance of the facility, including three new parking garages and the Festival Space to the north of Pinnacle Bank Arena. Pinnacle Bank Arena is part of a $344 million project in the Haymarket District in downtown Lincoln which also includes a 200-room hotel, 100,000 square feet of retail space, another 100,000 square feet of office space and 100 residential units.

Mikki Moore led Nebraska to the 1996 NIT championship game, where the Huskers defeated St. Joseph's, 60-56, to earn their first-ever basketball title on the national level.

Cookie Belcher shares the school record with six steals in a postseason game. He accomplished the feat on three occasions as a Husker.

HISTORY OF NEBRASKA BASKETBALL

By Mike Babcock

As near as anyone can determine, the University of Nebraska was first represented by a men's basketball team on Feb. 2, 1897, just six years after Dr. James A. Naismith set down the rules of the game at the International YMCA Training School in Springfield, Mass.

A team from the Lincoln YMCA was the opponent, and Nebraska posted an 11-8 victory at Grant Memorial Hall, the home of the Huskers for all but two seasons until the Coliseum opened in 1926. The same teams played in Grant Hall three weeks later with a similar result, as NU won 23-14. Nebraska had to rally in the second game. The Hesperian, a student newspaper, reported: "At the end of the first half the score stood 9 to 6 in favor of the visitors but during the second half our boys took a brace and some excellent work was done.''

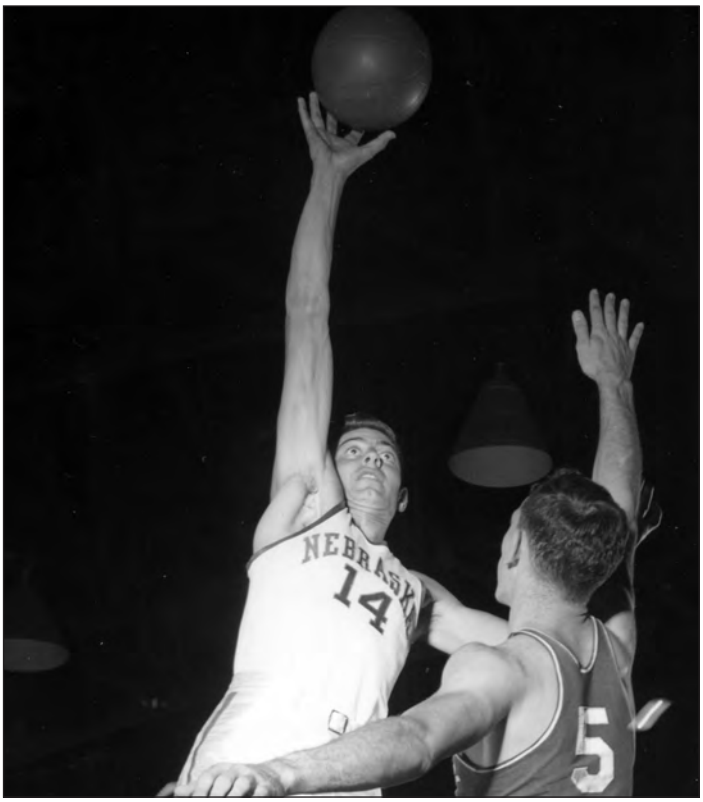

Such was the modest beginning of a program that has enjoyed its greatest success since 1980. In that span, NU has earned a 504-379 record and 18 postseason appearances, including six NCAA Tournaments, while adding a Phillips 66 Big Eight Tournament title in 1994 and the 1996 National Invitation Tournament championship.

Nebraska doubled its schedule in 1898, losing twice to the Lincoln YMCA and splitting two games with the Omaha YMCA. A 16-12 loss against the Omaha YMCA provided evidence as to why Nebraska finished 1-3 that season. According to The Hesperian account: "The great difficulty of the University team was mere recklessness. Our boys have been playing with a loose interpretation of the rules. The officials were strict and of course the resulting advantage was in favor of Omaha.'' Then as now, overly aggressive play had its drawbacks.

Nebraska played teams from other universities for the first time in 1899, winning two games against Nebraska Wesleyan and one against Doane en route to the unofficial state championship. The next season, Nebraska played an out-of-state opponent for the first time, defeating the University of Kansas, 48-8, at Lincoln. That game still ranks as the worst loss for a Jayhawk team and was the first for either school against a present-day NCAA Division I school and the first matching present-day Big 12 Conference institutions.

The Kansas team was coached by Dr. Naismith. The Nebraska student yearbook, Sombrero, wrote: "A closely contested game was looked for. The Jayhawkers were, however, completely outclassed, the score being 48-8.'' Based on the victory against Kansas and four other similarly decisive victories, "the basketball team for this year was undoubtedly superior to any in the west,'' the Sombrero concluded. It would be several years before such a claim could be made again.

Nebraska hired its first full-time coach in 1911. E.O. "Jumbo'' Stiehm, who scored 24 points against Nebraska as a Wisconsin basketball player in 1908, coached both football and basketball. His first Husker basketball team won 14 of 15 games, its only loss coming at Minnesota, 40-15. The student newspaper, The Daily Nebraskan, blamed the loss on Nebraska's inability to adjust to the Gophers' "100-foot floor.''

Bus Whitehead was a two-time All-Big Seven selection in 1949 and 1950. The court at the Hendricks Training Complex is named after Whitehead, who passed away in 2010.

A Daily Nebraskan account of Nebraska's 29-28 season-ending victory against Kansas at Lincoln in 1912 provides evidence that some fans' behavior hasn't changed much over the years.

"The game as a whole was entirely unsatisfactory, being marred by rough tactics of the visitors, incompetent work on the part of the referee and interruptions by the audience, which were in part justifiable.''

Nebraska shared the Missouri Valley Conference championship with Kansas in 1912 and 1914 and won the title outright in 1913 under Stiehm's leadership. The 1913-14 team was "so fast it took a movie camera to catch 'em,'' according to the Cornhusker student yearbook. It was described as a "point-a-minute'' team, which wasn't quite accurate. Typically, games lasted 40 minutes (though that wasn't always the case), and Nebraska averaged 30 points per game. Guard Sam Carrier became Nebraska's first All-America basketball player in 1913. He and Carl Underwood led the Huskers to 17 victories in 19 games. Underwood was the Missouri Valley Conference scoring leader with 66 points in 10 conference games.

Nebraska won another conference title outright in 1916, after Sam Waugh replaced Stiehm as the Cornhuskers' coach for one season. Stiehm, who coached the first game of the season before giving way to Waugh, had planned to remain at Nebraska through the basketball season before leaving to become coach and athletic director at Wisconsin. But the Nebraska Athletic Board decided to replace him.

Waugh was succeeded by E.J. "Doc'' Stewart, whose three Cornhusker teams had a combined record of 29-23. Nebraska was 22-2 in 1919-20 and 11-3 in 1920-21 under Coach P.J. Schissler. After the 1919-20 season, Schissler challenged the University of Chicago to a game, but to no avail. The Cornhuskers also were invited to a postseason AAU tournament in Atlanta but didn't go.

Schissler's teams played as independents. Nebraska lost its affiliation with the Missouri Valley Conference because of a decision to play a football game against Oklahoma in Omaha in 1919. Conference rules prohibited such games (Oklahoma had not yet joined the Missouri Valley Conference). Nebraska returned to the Missouri Valley Conference in 1921, and Owen Frank replaced Schissler as basketball coach. The remainder of the Roaring 1920s was, for the most part, undistinguished.

Basketball was rough and tumble. There was a center jump after every basket and no requirement to cross mid-court in 10 seconds or less. The ball was a lot different, too, more like a medicine ball, which contributed to some dull games.

The most significant event during the 1920s was the building of the Coliseum, which was dedicated on Feb. 6, 1926. The Cornhuskers dropped a 25-14 decision to Kansas in the first game at their new home, which was built at a cost of $445,000 and seated 8,000 for basketball. Prior to that, Nebraska played most of its home games in Grant Hall, which seated about a fourth as many fans as the Coliseum and was located just to the north of where the Sheldon Art Gallery now stands.

Athletic Director Fred Leuhring arranged for Nebraska to play its home basketball games at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum in 1921, in order to accommodate more spectators. The Cornhuskers played two seasons at the Fairgrounds Coliseum, which had a wider court than Grant Hall.

The first game there was played on Jan. 14, 1921. Nebraska defeated conference opponent Grinnell 31-10 before an audience of 1,500, according to newspaper estimates. After two seasons, the Cornhuskers returned to Grant Hall, which had been remodeled, and continued to play home games there until the NU Coliseum opened.

Nebraska ended the decade with an 11-5 season under Charles T. Black, a former Kansas All-American in 1928-29. In the next 19 seasons, the Huskers had just two winning records, back-to-back campaigns under Coach W.H. Browne in 1935-36 and 1936-37. The 1937 team tied Kansas for the Big Six championship, after finishing second to the Jayhawks in 1936.

The 1930s produced four more Cornhusker All-Americans: center Don Maclay in 1931, guard Steve Hokuf in 1933, guard George Wahlquist in 1936 and guard Robert Parsons in 1937. Maclay was the Big Six scoring leader in 1930, scoring 112 points in 10 league games.

Harry Good was hired as head coach in 1946 and after two losing seasons, turned Nebraska's fortunes around. In 1948-49, Good's Huskers went 16-10, tied Oklahoma for the Big Seven regular-season championship and defeated the Sooners, 57-56, in a conference playoff to qualify for an NCAA playoff game. The NCAA Tournament was structured differently then, and the Cornhuskers needed to win that playoff to advance into the NCAA field. They lost to Oklahoma A&M, the Missouri Valley Conference champion, 52-35, at Kansas City, Mo. Coach Henry P. Iba's Aggies went on to finish second to Kentucky, coached by Adolph Rupp, in the NCAA Tournament.

In 1949-50, Nebraska again won 16 games and shared the Big Seven crown with Kansas and Kansas State. That marks the last time the conference had a three-way tie at the top. "We were King in our day,'' Claude Retherford once told a newspaper reporter. "They were firing football coaches left and right, but we packed 'em in. Oh, people were interested in football, but basketball was THE game on the Nebraska campus when we played.'' Retherford earned All-Big Seven recognition in 1949 after leading the conference in scoring with a 12.4 points-per-game average.

The Cornhuskers had another first-team All-Big Seven performer in 1949, Milton "Bus'' Whitehead. The 6-10 center from Scottsbluff, Neb., also earned all-conference honors in 1950, when he averaged a then-school-record 15.7 points per game. Whitehead was named to the District V All-America team by Collier's Magazine. Whitehead also was the first Cornhusker selected to play in the East-West All-Star Game in New York City's Madison Square Garden. When he graduated, Whitehead held nine school scoring records.

Nebraska basketball experienced another drought beginning in 1950-51, with 15 consecutive losing seasons. Despite playing for a team that finished last in the Big Seven in 1952, Husker guard Jim Buchanan earned All-America and all-conference honors. And even though the late Jerry Bush, dubbed the "Big Bear of the Coliseum,'' never produced a winning team in his nine seasons as head coach at Nebraska, his colorful personality and uncanny ability to fashion upsets kept Cornhusker fans entertained.

The most dramatic upset during Bush's tenure as coach came on Feb. 22, 1958, against Kansas. The Jayhawks featured 7-foot center Wilt Chamberlain and were ranked fourth in the nation when they came to Lincoln. Earlier in the season, the Jayhawks had defeated the Huskers, 102-46, at Lawrence, Kan., with Chamberlain matching Nebraska by scoring 46 points. Nebraska scored a 43-41 victory in the rematch, when 5-9 guard Jim Kubacki hit a 15-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining.

But that's only part of the drama. Kubacki, a senior from Toledo, Ohio, spent all but the final 6:53 of the game sitting on the bench in street clothes, forced there by a knee injury and the kind of fate from which legends are built. When the Cornhuskers' captain, Gary Reimers, left the game with leg cramps, Kubacki convinced Bush to let him suit up. Four minutes and seven seconds later, Kubacki went into the game. Two minutes and 44 seconds after that, he hit the winning shot.

Bush also had the distinction of coaching the school's first 1,000-point scorer, guard Herschell Turner, who came from Indianapolis, Ind., where he was rated the second-best high school player in the state as a senior, behind only crosstown-rival Oscar Robertson. Turner earned All-America honors in 1959 and followed with All-Big Eight honors in 1960 and ended his Cornhusker career with 1,056 points.

Following the 1962-63 season, Bush was replaced as head coach by Joe Cipriano, who brought the nickname "Slippery Joe'' and up-tempo basketball to the Coliseum. His teams pressed full-court and ran a fast-break offense, which led the Big Eight in scoring average in 1966, 1967 and 1968.

Cipriano's first two teams had a combined record of 17-33. But his third team, in 1965-66, was one of the most successful in school history, finishing 20-5 and second to Kansas in the Big Eight. All-Big Eight guard Grant Simmons, the first Cornhusker to earn academic All-Big Eight honors, was the team's leader.

The 1966-67 team finished 16-9 and made the school's first appearance in the 16-team National Invitation Tournament, played at New York City's Madison Square Garden. Guard Stu Lantz was a two-time All-Big Eight pick and led the Cornhuskers in scoring and rebounding in both 1966-67 and 1967-68.

Guard Marvin Stewart and center Chuck Jura earned All-Big Eight honors for Cipriano in 1971 and 1972, respectively. Guard Jerry Fort, who finished his career with a then-school-record 1,882 points, was the first Nebraska player chosen first-team all-conference three times, from 1974 through 1976. With Fort's leadership, Nebraska began a string of 14 winning seasons.

In the fall of 1976, Cornhusker basketball moved out of the Coliseum and into the state-of-the-art Bob Devaney Sports Center. Located on the State Fairgrounds, the $13 million athletic complex was financed by a special cigarette tax.

Cipriano coached Nebraska to another 20-victory season in 1977-78. The Cornhuskers, led by All-Big Eight guard Brian Banks, finished with a 22-8 record and advanced to the second round of the NIT. Despite failing health – a battle against cancer that he finally lost – Cipriano shared coaching duties with his assistant, Moe Iba, in 1979-80, and took Nebraska to the NIT again. For their efforts, the duo shared United Press International Big Eight Coach-of-the-Year honors.

Cipriano brought Nebraska into the modern era, coaching 17 seasons and 450 games. His record was 253-197, and those 253 victories represent nearly one-fifth of Nebraska's all-time total. Following Cipriano's death, Iba was named head coach, and he continued Cipriano's winning ways. In Iba's six seasons on the bench, Nebraska was 106-71 and advanced to postseason play four times.

Center Andre Smith was the 1981 Big Eight MVP and twice earned All-Big Eight honors. However, it was the late Jack Moore, a 5-10 playmaker from Muncie, Ind., who captured the hearts of Nebraska fans from 1980 through 1982. Moore earned All-Big Eight honors in 1982, when he won the Naismith Award, given annually to the nation's top player under 6-feet tall. The first three-time academic All-Big Eight pick in Nebraska history, Moore scored 1,204 points and hit .901 from the free throw line during his career.

The cornerstone of Iba's teams from 1983 through 1986 was Omaha, Neb., native Dave Hoppen, a three-time All-Big Eight center and the first Nebraska basketball player to have his jersey number (42) retired by the school. In 1982-83, Hoppen's freshman season, the Cornhuskers were 22-10 and won three games in the NIT before losing to DePaul in the semifinals at Madison Square Garden. The Cornhuskers returned to the NIT each of the next two seasons, advancing to the second round both times.

Andre Smith was the Big Eight Player of the Year for Nebraska in 1981.

Hoppen's college career, though, was ended by a knee injury he sustained in a game at Colorado on Feb. 1, 1986. He finished as the school's all-time scoring leader with 2,167 points and broke or tied 19 school records during his four-year stay. After Hoppen's injury, Iba's team regrouped and went on to earn the school's first-ever "official'' NCAA Tournament berth. Nebraska lost to Western Kentucky in the first round of the Southeast Regional, 67-59. Following the game, Iba announced his resignation.

On March 27, 1986, Danny Nee was officially introduced as Nebraska's 24th basketball coach. During a news conference to announce his hiring, Nee said a "new era" in Cornhusker basketball was beginning.

Nee's 14 teams appeared in postseason play 11 times and topped the 20-victory mark in seven seasons. In his first season, Nebraska was 21-12 and finished third in the NIT.

After a 13-18 record in his second season, the Cornhuskers got back over the .500 mark with a 17-16 record in 1988-89 and advanced to the second round of the NIT.

Nebraska missed the school single-season record for losses by one in 1989-90 (10-18), then won a school-record 26 games, with only eight losses, in 1990-91. The Cornhuskers reached the Big Eight Tournament championship game for the first time and advanced to the NCAA Tournament, losing to Xavier 89-84 in the first round of the regionals at Minneapolis, Minn.

The 1990-91 team included two first-round NBA draft picks, senior Rich King and redshirt freshman Eric Piatkowski. The 7-2 King was the tallest player in Cornhusker history.

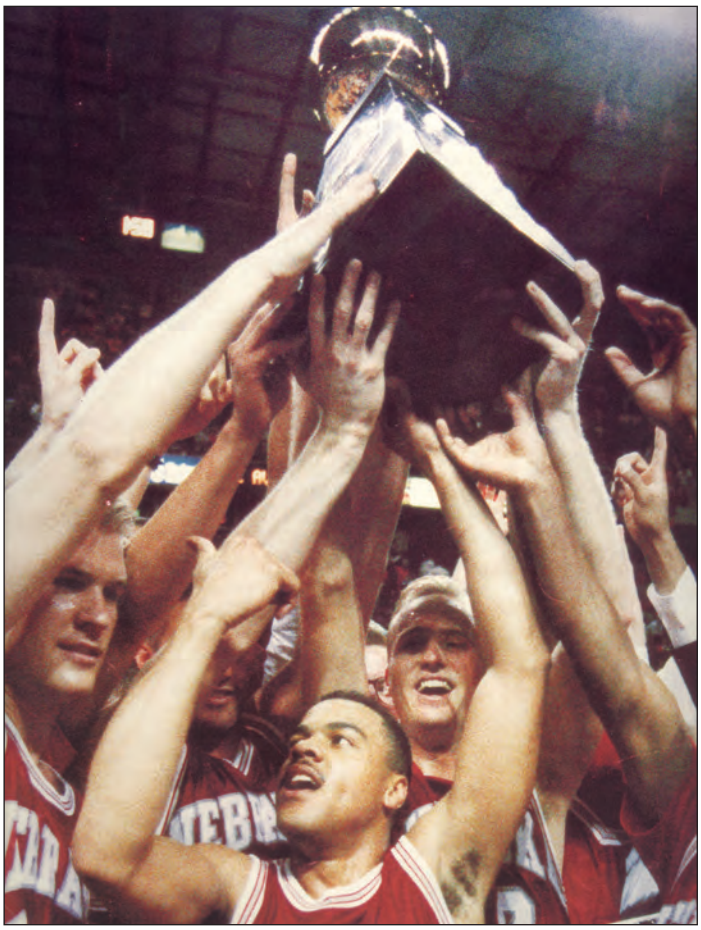

Piatkowski, Nebraska's sixth-man in 1990-91, went on to win first-team all-conference honors twice. He ranks second on the Cornhuskers' career-scoring list with 1,934 points, and he is the only Nebraska player to finish with at least 1,900 points, 600 rebounds (669) and 300 assists (322). In 2006, Piatkowski became the third Husker, joining Hoppen and Stu Lantz (No. 22), to have his jersey number (52) retired.

Three more NCAA Tournament appearances followed the record-shattering 1991 season. In 1992-93, the Huskers registered their highest league finish under Nee by tying for second in the Big Eight.

In addition to reaching the NCAA Tournament for a fourth consecutive season and recording back-to-back 20-victory seasons for the first time in school history, Nee's 1993-94 team made history by winning the school's first Phillips 66 Big Eight Tournament title. The Cornhuskers defeated Oklahoma, Missouri and Oklahoma State, in that order, to earn the tournament championship.

Nebraska's NCAA Tournament run ended at four in 1994-95, but the Huskers kept their postseason streak alive with an NIT berth, advancing to the second round. The 1995-96 team struggled down the stretch but was back in the NIT and capped its season with a run to the tournament title.

The Huskers won two games on the road and scored more than 80 points in four of their five postseason games. They finished with a 60-56 victory against St. Joseph's at Madison Square Garden.

Nebraska won its only Big Eight Tournament title during the 1994 season as the Huskers won three straight over Oklahoma, No. 3 Missouri and No. 23 Oklahoma State.

Nebraska won the 1996 NIT title at Madison Square Garden. It was the third time since 1980 that the Huskers reached at least the NIT semifinals.

"The NIT run was incredible when you look at the teams we beat and how we beat them," Nee said after the remarkable run. "I don't care what anybody says, it was domination."

The 1996 NIT championship team was one of the most talented in school history. Two future NBA players, Erick Strickland and 1998 first-round draft pick Tyronn Lue, were in the backcourt. And two other players on the team scored 1,000 career points, Jaron Boone and freshman Venson Hamilton, who would finish his career in 1999 as the school's all-time leading rebounder and shot-blocker.

Lue's contributions as a freshman to the NIT championship team were only a preview of what was to come. The lightning-quick, 6-0 point guard finished his career as the seventh-leading scorer in school history, and he ranked in the top 10 in 12 other career categories. His leadership carried the 1996-97 Cornhusker team, the first to play in the Big 12, to another NIT appearance.

Behind a late-season run, which included Nebraska's longest conference winning streak in 20 years, Nee's 12th team finished fourth in the Big 12 and returned to the NCAA Tournament. The bid was the Cornhuskers' fifth during the 1990s and extended the school-record postseason run to eight.

The streak reached nine in 1999, as the Cornhuskers just missed an NCAA Tournament bid and advanced to the second round of the NIT. In the process, NU reached the 20-victory mark for a second consecutive season, and Hamilton was named Big 12 Player of the Year.

The optimism that preceded the 1999-2000 season, Nee's last, quickly faded with the loss of guard Cookie Belcher, who was sidelined by a wrist injury and forced to take a medical redshirt. The Cornhuskers were off-balance almost from the beginning of the season and fell far short of expectations.

Even though Nee became the winningest coach in school history in 1999-2000, getting victory No. 254 to pass Joe Cipriano in the Cornhuskers' final home game against Colorado, his final team finished with an 11-19 record. The 19 losses tied for the most in school history.

With then-Director of Athletics Bill Byrne setting his sites on bringing NU basketball back

Venson Hamilton was the second Husker to be named conference player of the year when he earned the award in 1999.

Aleks Maric finished his career ranked fifth all-time in scoring and second in rebounding, becoming only the third player in Big 12 history to record at least 1,600 points and 1,000 rebounds in a career.

to national prominence, he hired Barry Collier as the Cornhuskers' new coach on April 5, 2000. In Collier's first season with the Huskers, Nebraska finished with a 14-16 mark as Belcher returned to the lineup and earned second-team All-Big 12 Conference honors while finishing third in NCAA history for career steals with 353.

In Collier's fourth season, Nebraska ran to an 18-13 record and its first postseason bid in five years. Nebraska won its first two games in the 2004 NIT, including an exhilarating 71-70 road victory over in-state foe Creighton in the opening round. After a home-court victory over Niagara, the Huskers' season came to an end three days later in a valiant effort at Hawaii when NU came back from 17 points down at halftime to tie the game at the first media timeout of the second period before eventually falling by a point.

Nebraska struggled the following season but an influx of young talent helped the Huskers move forward. Aleks Maric made an immediate impact as he broke the NU freshman rebounds record and ranked in the rookie top 10 for blocked shots. Maric was a force in the paint as he tied the school freshman record for double-doubles. It was a sign of good things to come as he finished his four-year career ranked fifth all-time in scoring and was only the second Husker ever to record at least 1,000 career rebounds.

NU made its second postseason appearance in three years in 2006 before finishing with a 19-14 record. It was the most wins under Collier and the first time his Huskers won a game at the Big 12 Championship as NU reached the semifinals of the conference tourney for the first time since winning the Big Eight Tournament title in 1994.

Collier looked to have a solid base in place for 2006-07 before abruptly resigning in early August to take the position of athletic director at his alma mater, Butler University, ending his career at Nebraska with an 89-91 overall record.

The late opening posed little challenge for Nebraska as one week later, on Aug. 8, 2006, Kenneth 'Doc' Sadler was introduced as the 26th head coach in program history.

Nebraska finished first in the Big 12 and 18th nationally in scoring defense in 2007-08, allowing just 60.7 points per game. Sadler's specialty was highlighted again in 2008-09 as the Huskers proved it was no fluke, claiming another first-place defense in the league while ranking 22nd nationally by giving up just 60.4 points per contest. It was the second-lowest total in the Husker record book since 1951, giving Sadler-coached squads three of the top four Husker scoring defenses in the past half century.

The Huskers' 20-13 record in 2007-08 included a 7-9 record in league play, after starting the Big 12 campaign with an 0-4 mark. In 2008-09, Sadler helped Nebraska continue its upward trend with eight league victories, marking NU's first .500 record in conference play in a decade. Nebraska's 2010-11 season was highlighted by wins over three ranked teams, including No. 3 Texas, as the victory over the Longhorns was marked the highest ranked team Nebraska had defeated since 1994.

The 2011-12 season began a new era for Nebraska basketball, as the Huskers joined the Big Ten Conference. That season also marked the opening of the Hendricks Training Complex, an 84,000-foot facility for the Husker basketball program which includes practice courts, locker room, team lounge, offices as well as strength and nutrition areas, giving Nebraska one of the best facilities in the nation.

In March of 2012, Nebraska moved in a different direction as then-Athletic Director Tom Osborne chose Tim Miles to run the basketball program. Miles guided a short-handed roster to 15 wins in his first season, including the program's first-ever Big Ten Tournament win, and has worked tirelessly to build Nebraska's basketball brand.

The 2013-14 season was a rebirth for the Husker program. Nebraska moved into the $179 million dollar Pinnacle Bank Arena in downtown Lincoln in August of 2014 and presold the entire season six months before the opener. The Huskers flourished in their new home, going 15-1 including a win over ninth-ranked Wisconsin in front of a record crowd of 15,998. The Huskers went 19-13 on the season and earned their first NCAA appearance in 16 years. Terran Petteway earned consensus All-Big Ten honors while Miles was named Big Ten and National Coach of the Year after leading the Huskers to the NCAAs following a 1-5 start in Big Ten play.

Since the opening of Pinnacle Bank Arena, Husker fans have been coming out in record numbers, as the program broke its attendance record for the second straight year in 2014-15 and is one of nine NCAA programs to average at least 15,000 fans per game in each of the past five seasons.

In 2017-18, the Huskers exceeded expectations, winning 22 games, including a pair of wins against ranked Big Ten teams, and finished fourth in the conference with a 13-5 mark. The 13 conference wins was a school record while the 22 wins were the most since 1990-91. Newcomers James Palmer Jr. and Isaac Copeland both earned All-Big Ten honors, as Palmer garnered first-team accolades by averaging 17.2 points per game to rank fifth in the Big Ten.

A crowd of nearly 2,500 were on hand to celebrate with the Huskers on their first NCAA berth since 1998.

HUSKER AWARD WINNERS

PALMER SELECTED AS JACK MOORE AWARD WINNER

Junior guard James Palmer Jr. was selected by a vote of his teammates as the Jack Moore Award winner, which is annually presented to the team's Most Valuable Player, for the 2017-18 season.

The award is named for late Husker guard Jack Moore, a 5-9 playmaker who set 17 school records in a career that ended in 1982. Moore was presented with the 1982 Francis Pomeroy-Naismith Award as the best collegiate player in the nation under six feet tall. A consensus All-Big Eight performer in 1982, Moore was killed in a plane crash in March of 1984.

Palmer earned the honor after putting together a strong campaign in his first season as a Husker. The 6-foot-6, 210-pound guard was a first-team All-Big Ten pick by the conference coaches and a first-team all-district honoree by the NABC and USBWA. Palmer led Nebraska in scoring at 17.2 points per game, while also adding 4.4 rebounds, 3.0 assists and 1.0 steals per game. The Upper Marlboro, Md., native reached double figures in 31 of 33 games during the 2017-18 campaign, including eight 20-point efforts. Palmer scored a career-high 34 points against No. 13 Ohio State and had 28 points at Wisconsin and against Iowa.

Sophomore Isaiah Roby was chosen as the team's Most Improved Player for his strides during the season. The 6-foot-8 forward averaged 8.7 points per game while pacing the Huskers in rebounding (6.3 rpg) and blocked shots (2.0 bpg). Roby played some of his best basketball down the stretch, averaging 13.0 points on 63 percent shooting along with 8.8 rebounds and 2.6 blocks per game in his final eight contests.

Evan Taylor was chosen as the team's top defender for the second straight year, as he finished tied for second on the team with steals and usually guarded the opponent's top backcourt scorer.

Justin Costello was honored as the Husker Power Lifter of the Year award for his work in the weight room with strength coach Tim Wilson. Costello scored over 1,600 points in the Performance Index, while setting school records in the 10-meter shuttle and the pro-agility drill.

6-11, 235, C, 1983-86, Omaha, Neb. (Benson)

Three-time All-Big Eight center Dave Hoppen finished his career as Nebraska's all-time leading scorer with 2,167 points. Hoppen, whose four-year collegiate career was cut short by a knee injury in a game at Colorado, Feb. 1, 1986, broke or tied 19 Nebraska records and five Big Eight marks during his standout career. A native of Omaha, Neb., Hoppen was the first player in Husker basketball history to have his jersey number (42) retired. Originally drafted by the NBA's Atlanta Hawks in the third round of the 1986 draft, he played with both Charlotte and Philadelphia, and a stint in the CBA. Hoppen was inducted into the Nebraska Basketball Hall of Fame in 1996 and Nebraska Athletics Hall of Fame in 2017.

A 2013 inductee into the Nebraska Basketball Hall of Fame, Lue was named head coach of the Cleveland Cavaliers on Jan. 22, 2016. In his first season, he guided the Cavs to the first NBA title in franchise history, as Cleveland overcame a 3-1 deficit against Golden State in the NBA Finals. Lue is one of only 14 individuals in NBA history to win a title as both a player and head coach. He became the fourth Husker to have his jersey retired when he was honored on Feb. 2, 2017.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT DIRECTORY

The 2018-19 Nebraska media guide is designed to assist the media in its coverage of the Nebraska Cornhusker men's basketball program. Additional information, including releases, photographs and video may be obtained by contacting the Communications Office at (402) 472-2263, or in many cases can be found on Huskers.com.

Please take a moment to review the following policies and services, which are intended to assist media members in their coverage of Nebraska basketball this season.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS

All requests for press, broadcast, photo and parking credentials for Nebraska basketball home games should be directed to Vicki Capazo (vcapazo@huskers.com), One Memorial Stadium, P.O. Box 880123, 800 Stadium Drive, Lincoln, NE, 68588-0123. Credential requests can also be sent via e-mail to Sr. Associate Communications Director Shamus McKnight (smcknight@huskers.com) at least one week before the game.

As a general rule, working space is allocated on the following basis:

1) Writers covering for same or next day publication;
2) Radio personnel for broadcast originations;
3) Sports editors of Nebraska daily newspapers;
4) Official school student daily newspaper, one seat only;
5) Approved special coverage as space allows;
6) Press and TV working photographers;

Visiting freelance and amateur photographers are not eligible for media credentials, except by approval of the Nebraska Communications Office. Generally, weekly newspaper representatives, Internet news services and non-originating radio representatives cannot be accommodated because of space limitations. Internet writers for sites affiliated with established, nationally recognized media outlets will be considered on a game-by-game basis as space allows. Credentials will not be granted for writers or photographers for Internet sites that are not affiliated with an accredited news organization.

MEDIA WILL CALL/MEDIA PARKING

Media passes that are not mailed may be picked up at the Will-Call window, located near the main ticket office at Pinnacle Bank Arena. The main ticket office is located on the south end of Pinnacle Bank Arena. The will-call window opens 90 minutes before tipoff and photo identification is required for pickup of credentials or tickets.

For the 2018-19 season, media parking is located in Lot 24, which is located on 8th Street between R and S streets. Media should enter the lot from S Street and the media lot is located about two blocks from the main entrance of Pinnacle Bank Arena. Parking is available on a first-come, first-served basis.

COACH MILES INTERVIEW TIME

Coach Miles will hold press availability with the local media prior to each game, either at the Hendricks Training Complex or at Pinnacle Bank Arena. Typically one or two players will be available at that time, depending on class schedules. Additional player interviews can be conducted after practice. All interviews with Coach Miles must be scheduled through the Communications Office.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

Nebraska's locker room is closed to the media at home and on the road. For home games, Nebraska's postgame news conference will be held following a brief cooling off period in the interview room (C-145) off the northeast corner of the court. The opposing team is housed in the visitor's locker room, located off the northwest corner of the playing floor and will be available following the cooling off period. The visiting coach will also be brought to the postgame interview room. Make requests for opposing players and coaches through the visiting SID. To access the media work room and postgame interview room, take the elevator from the main concourse behind Section 103.

On the road, Coach Miles and select players will be available upon request after the cooling off period. Check with Sr. Associate Communications Director Shamus McKnight regarding where player interviews will take place.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS

All media requests for interviews with Nebraska basketball players should be directed to Sr. Associate Communications Director Shamus McKnight [office phone: (402) 472-7772, cell phone: (402) 540-0268] at least one day in advance. The best time for in-season interviews is after practices, depending on class schedules. Players are not available on game days or off days.

Selected practices will be open to the media during the season with seating on the balcony overlooking the practice court at the Hendricks Training Complex or at Pinnacle Bank Arena. Contact the Communications Office for practice availability.

PRESS SEATING

Press row for writers and non-originating radio networks is located in Section 121 (northwest corner), just below the main concourse. The visiting radio network is located across from the scorer's table, along with the Husker Sports Network spot and live television tables. Television crews broadcasting live may shoot from either floor level (northeast or southwest baselines) or the camera deck, but they may not occupy space in the upper-level video area.

MEDIA WORK ROOM

A media work room (C-151) is available on the east side of Pinnacle Bank Arena, a short walk from the Interview room. Media can use the room prior to, during and after the game to write and send stories. Wireless Internet is available in the room, while media entities needing ethernet lines to transmit photography and video should contact Justin Schoen, Technology Manager at Pinnacle Bank Arena, by phone at (402) 904-5660 or at least three days in advance.

PHOTOGRAPHY/VIDEO BOXES

Photography and video boxes are located along both baselines in front of the courtside seating area. Spots will be assigned on a game-by-game basis, and those boxes are the only place photographers can shoot from. Once the team enters the court for pregame warmups, photographers should not be on the court at any time.

WIRELESS INTERNET

Pinnacle Bank Arena has a secured media wireless network for working media. Instructions will be available on how to access the network in the media work room and on press row. A member of NU's computing services staff will be on hand to assist media needing access.

MEDIA SERVICES

Notes, flipcards and media guides will be provided before each game. Final statistics, play-by-play sheets and quotes from each locker room will be distributed via email following the game and will be available on Huskers.com. A light pregame meal will be served in the media work room (C-151) approximately 60 minutes before tipoff.

COMMUNICATIONS OFFICE

The University of Nebraska Communications Office is located on the third floor of the Osborne Athletic Complex, which is at the north end of Memorial Stadium. The building address is One Memorial Stadium, 800 Stadium Drive, Lincoln, NE 68588-0123, and is located less than one mile away from Pinnacle Bank Arena.

RADIO/TELEVISION BROADCAST SPACE

Requests for live radio and television broadcast space should be made to Sr. Associate Communications Director Shamus McKnight at smcknight@huskers.com. If statisticians are needed, contact Shamus McKnight at least three days in advance.

RADIO BROADCAST RIGHTS

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln and IMG World own exclusive radio broadcast rights to all of the University's men's basketball games. Other than the Husker Sports Network and the University of Nebraska student radio station (KRNU), the only radio stations or networks allowed to broadcast Nebraska games from Pinnacle Bank Arena are those that have rights to broadcast games played by the opposing team.

All radio stations and networks broadcasting from the Pinnacle Bank Arena must receive prior permission from the University. Any representative of a radio station or network that has not purchased such rights shall not air live game action or description of any game while it is in progress, nor shall such representatives air tape-recorded or live commentary of Nebraska coaches or players from the premises for one hour before or 20 minutes after a game.

Only stations that have purchased broadcast rights may install telephone lines on press row, or use telephone lines on press row for reporting on games. By accepting media credentials, representatives of stations and networks that have not purchased broadcast rights signify their agreement to all stipulations.

BROADCAST TELEPHONE LINES

The Husker Sports Network installs telephone lines for visiting official broadcasts and charges a fee for the use of those lines for non-conference games. Big Ten official stations receive the use of the lines free of charge as part of a cooperative. Those interested in using the lines should contact Mike Elliott of Husker Sports Network at (402) 742-8624.

Official visiting radio stations are welcome to have their own telephone lines installed at the visiting radio position and may do so by contacting Justin Schoen, Technology Manager at Pinnacle Bank Arena, by phone at (402) 904-5660 or jschoen@smglincoln.com.

PRO SCOUTING PASSES

Per Big Ten Conference rules, the University of Nebraska provides press box access to scouts of professional basketball teams based on availability. If no space is available in the press box, scouts may arrange through the Communications Office (402) 472-2263 to purchase tickets for Nebraska home games.

TELEVISION, RADIO, INTERNET BROADCAST RIGHTS AND RESTRICTIONS

Nebraska, its opponent and the respective conference designate the broadcast rights for all games. No pregame coverage shall be permitted for two hours before the game without the express permission of the University of Nebraska, the Big Ten Conference and the broadcast rights holder. Live postgame interviews may not be aired while the television rights holder is still on the air. Per the Big Ten Conference, a maximum of two minutes (2:00) of game video footage (without audio) may be utilized during the seven days following the conclusion of the game solely within regularly scheduled bona fide news programming distributed via television, and may not be distributed via the internet, wireless or other forms of media. In addition, live in-game streaming of the contests on social media is prohibited.

Any secondary use of any picture, photograph, audio description, video, film/tape, drawing or other description of a game taken or made by the accredited organization or individual to whom a credential has been issued (including, but not limited to use in delayed editorial or non-editorial advertising, sales promotion or merchandising) is prohibited without prior specific written approval of the Big Ten Conference. Nothing in these terms and conditions authorizes or allows bearer to violate any of the trademarks, copyright and other proprietary rights of the Big Ten Conference.

This restriction also includes highlights of games while in progress (live or recorded). Use of video highlights in any other manner or any media distribution platform without the advanced written permission of the Big Ten Conference is expressly prohibited. Any agency wishing to use film or video in any other manner must obtain written permission from the Big Ten Conference.

Local television stations may not originate a pre- or post-game show from inside Pinnacle Bank Arena.

Any blogs, tweets, live chats, social media posts, etc. from the game site should not serve as a substitute for, or approximate, play-by-play accounts of a game in any medium.

Non-originating radio stations or internet sites may not provide play-by-play coverage, live or delayed, but may provide short news updates provided such news update is one minute or less occurring no more than once per hour. No pregame coverage from inside the arena shall be permitted for two hours before the game without the express permission of the University of Nebraska and the broadcast rights holder.

COMPLIANCE GUIDELINES

COMMITMENT TO COMPLIANCE

On behalf of the University of Nebraska student-athletes, coaches and Athletic Department staff, I would like to express my appreciation for your continued support of our entire athletic program.

The University of Nebraska is known for its loyal, passionate, and knowledgeable fans. It is this type of fervent support that not only assists Nebraska student-athletes in reaching their full potential on and off the playing field, but also draws the next generation of student-athletes to our campus. However, as a University of Nebraska booster, please remember that you are also required to know and follow NCAA regulations.

Our coaches, student-athletes, and Athletic Department staff members are knowledgeable about NCAA regulations because they receive on-going education. But, to truly attain the excellence the University of Nebraska strives for, we also need our supporters to be educated about these same regulations. In turn, you will be assisting us with protecting the eligibility and well-being of our current and future student-athletes.

Please review the information listed below, which includes some of the most important and frequently asked questions about NCAA regulations for boosters. Since this document cannot address everything you may need to know, I encourage you to contact our office with questions that may arise. Our staff can be reached at (402) 472-2042 or Compliance@Huskers.com.

Thank you and Go Huskers!

Jamie Vaughn, Senior Associate Athletic Director for Compliance

Pavelka previously called Nebraska basketball for two long stints between 1974 and 1996 before returning to the Husker basketball play-by-play chair prior to the 2006-07 season. A six-time winner of the Nebraska Sportscaster-of-the-Year Award, Pavelka also handled color analyst duties on NU football broadcasts from 1974 to 1983, and was the play-by-play announcer from 1983 to 1996. Pavelka was honored in January 2009 with the Bud Cuca Special Merit Award given by the Nebraska Basketball Hall of Fame for his contributions to the NU men's basketball program.

Alongside Pavelka as color analyst will be former Husker point guard Jake Muhleisen, who begins his first full season on the broadcast team. Muhleisen, who has served in a part-time role for the network for the last few seasons, was a four-year starter and three-year captain for the Huskers, totaling 901 points and 284 assists during his collegiate career from 2002-05. Ben McLaughlin will also be part of the broadcast team for selected broadcasts. McLaughlin co-hosts Sports Nightly and is part of the network's football and baseball broadcast teams.

In addition to unmatched game coverage, Sports Nightly airs Monday-Friday evenings for three hours year round across the network. During the basketball season, Sports Nightly features a weekly basketball radio show with Coach Miles and Husker assistant coaches. Sports Nightly can be heard on a network of over two dozen radio stations across Nebraska, as well as the Husker App, Huskers.com, TuneIn.com/Huskers and the TuneIn App.
